A HAN OF SE

YOU CAN TELL a lot about a person from their hands; someone who has long red nails is bound to be interested in appearances, while a guy who has hard calloused hands and car grease under his nails is unlikely to be the sort who enjoys listening to opera. No two handprints are alike and all those squiggly lines on your palms reveal more secrets about yourself than you realise. Are you going to be rich and famous? Will you fall in love with the right man? Hidden within all those lines and shapes is a key to your personality and future. By reading the palm you can locate your strengths and discover your true potential. Take a good look at your right hand (or the other one if you're left-handed) and use these guidelines to find the real you. BY GABRIELLA MARTINI.

THE FINGERS

Your fingers are the real clues to your personality. You've probably noticed that most model's hands are long, thin and smooth. This usually indicates vain people who are concerned with their looks and spend hours in front of the mirror! If you've got short fingers then you're most likely an impulsive person who never thinks twice about indulging yourself. If your fingers are well in proportion to the length of your palm, then you've got a balanced personality with a clear understanding of your capabilities.

THE THUMB

Try bending your thumb backwards. If it bends easily then you're a friendly, extravagant and outgoing person. If it's a bit difficult to bend then you're just a bit stubborn. You probably fight with your parents a lot and love getting your own way.

THE LITTLE FINGER

represents communication. If your little finger is quite long and stands away from your other fingers than you're a born motor-mouth. Most well-known singers and actors have fingers like this. If your little finger is quite short but strong then you'll make an excellent writer.

THE RING FINGER

represents beauty and the arts. If long and well formed it promises success for artists, musicians and writers. But watch out if your ring finger is bigger than your index finger because you love spending money and have real trouble hanging onto it for very long.

THE MIDDLE FINGER

should be just a bit longer than all the other fingers. If it's much longer then you're probably a bit moody and need to make a real effort to go out on the town. This is particularly true if you tend to wear rings on this finger more than any other!

THE INDEX FINGER

stands for power and authority. If this finger is particularly long then you've got great leadership ability. You'd be happiest running your own business or being the boss.

DFUL CRETS

TOUCH TEST

- THE SWEATY PALM SYNDROME - People who worry too much usually have these. Beware of a boy with cold and sweaty palms - he's so insecure it's a wonder that he'd even have the guts to ask a girl out. Even if he does ask you out, he'll probably wait for you to make the first move.
- SOFT HANDS denote stubbornness.
- HARD, DRY HANDS belong to idealistic, vulnerable people.
- BONY, HARD HANDS are found on hard working types with a need to please others.
- SMOOTH-FEELING PALMS indicate a laid-back personality.

THE HANDS

THE LIFE LINE

is a road map for your physical life. It should be as free of breaks as possible and start under your index finger and end somewhere near your wrist on the thumb side of your hand. If you have a short Life line, don't panic - it doesn't mean you won't make it to old age. The shorter and weaker your life line the more timid and frail you are. These are some of the variations:

- If it ends in a fork then you have a restless nature and want things to change constantly. You love a challenge and get bored of everything, especially boyfriends quickly.
- If your life line is connected to your head line, then you are almost certainly an intelligent but cautious person.
- If the gap between your head line and life line is very large then your adventures often get you into trouble.

THE HEAD LINE

is located beneath the fingers, between the heart line and life line. This line indicates your brain power and your potential.

- If this line is long, ending somewhere near your little finger than you're highly intelligent and logical.
- If it runs less than halfway across the palm, then you're most likely to devote yourself to one career.
- When your head line starts under your index finger then you're ambitious, able to manage other people and always seem to know what you want out of life.
- If your head line and life line run together for more than a centimetre or two then you never take risks.
- If it forks at the end, then you have a great imagination and are great at seeing other people's point of view.
- If your head line is chained and weak then you have a hard time making decisions.
- If your head and heart line run into one line then you tend to be fanatical and very jealous!

THE HEART LINE

is situated in the top portion of the palm and shows how you deal with love. It is one of the lines that tends to change and strengthen over the years. Situated high on the palm, it means you have a pleasant nature, if it's low it's a sign of potentially unhappy relationships.

- The best place for the heart line to start is somewhere between your index and middle finger. If the line begins under the index finger then you are a true believer in staying faithful to your lover. If it starts under the middle finger you may have trouble finding someone who lives up to all your expectations.
- If you have lots of little feathery lines rising from this line than you're a flirt. You glow around the opposite sex and usually have a bit of success with them too!
- If your heart line starts with a fork then you have a very independent nature and don't take too kindly to jealous boyfriends!

THE FATE LINE

starts near the wrist and ends around your middle finger. Not everyone has this line, but most people with real drive or a great belief in destiny do. It should be deep and means different things depending on which finger the line finishes under.

- If the fate line ends under your index finger you will probably run your own show, whether it be your own business or a huge corporation. You've got what it takes to be the leader of the pack.
- If it ends under the middle finger you will have success in whatever field or profession you choose.
- When the fate line ends under the ring finger it shows success in the field of arts. If your fate line also ends in a star than you'll probably become famous!
- If the line ends under your little finger you'll spend your career helping other people as a nurse, doctor or social worker.
- Breaks in the line indicate temporary setbacks in your career.
- If your fate line ends in the middle of your palm, you'll probably give up your career for a home life.

MARRIAGE LINES

These horizontal lines lie under the little finger between the finger and the heart line. The higher and stronger the lines the more likely that you will have a successful and early marriage, if the lines are closer to your heart line then you'll proabaly find love in later life.

- If a line droops downwards and has small islands in it, then you may have trouble with a partner.
- When the line ends in a fork it means the relationship won't last forever.
- If you have a very faint line under a stronger one then you'll probably have an affair while married!

THE CAPRICORN FEMALE

The funny thing about you is that you may not feel totally comfortable in the world until you are much older. It's then that you'll feel right at home, and while everybody else is stuck in a rut and acting middle-aged, you will be beginning life at 40. You seem to get younger in spirit as you grow older, but also remember that traditionally your sign means childhood. Your teenage years could be a bit of a drag, and it's likely that when you were much younger you couldn't wait to grow up. Your sign gives you the gifts of dedication (you can work incredibly hard) and caution. You test everything out before you make a move and this is one reason why so many Capricorn females become quite successful and powerful in business. You take your responsibilities more seriously than other people do because, as far as you are concerned, once you are given something to do, to fool around or be lazy is just unthinkable. You deliver the goods every time, and that's one reason why people have always found it easy to rely on you. You can be quite conservative with your time and your money. You aren't into impulse shopping or impulse spending, and, similarly, you won't leap into something just for the hell of it. You like to plan things and to have order around you. To you, things have to be proven - and this applies to people, too. You won't fall in love with somebody until he has been secretly tested by you and found to be totally dependable. You won't buy anything on the spur of the moment - it needs time so you can test it, compare it, check out who else has it and so on. Your more impulsive fire sign friends can get driven mad by this attitude but the joke is that ultimately you will win the day. You are a total career person. You probably have a goal already fixed in your mind and you will give it everything you've got. You don't mind waiting for career success. You may even be planning every little step of the way now - and given your dedication and seriousness you will probably make it right to the top, even if you have to overcome lots of obstacles. Your greatest gifts are the way you can provide stability and order in the world - you make things safe, organised and steady. Just make sure that you don't become too afraid of change, and don't be afraid to let go every now and again and lose your inhibitions.

THE CAPRICORN MALE

He will put on quite a good face to the world, and he can be very cool. It's easy to imagine him in ten years' time as a super businessman or some other high-powered executive because he has the ability to impress others. When you get to know him better you will see the other side of the Capricorn male, and that's the shy and sensitive bit. He worries what other people will think of him but hides it behind a tough, maybe even a cold, front. He can get quite serious about you, but only after he is satisfied that you are exactly what he thinks you are. There will be a testing time before he even makes the first move, and it's because he is cautious, needing to check things out. One of the best things about this guy is his sense of humour. There is such a serious side to him that he needs to let loose with quite an amazing sense of all that's stupid in life. He enjoys humour that is off the wall and he can out-laugh everybody else. He enjoys power and if you stick with this guy he'll make it right to the top. He doesn't particularly want to strut around in the limelight, though. He's probably more comfortable working behind the scenes - one of those people who everybody looks up to and depends on, but not a mover and shaker in the spotlight. He is really ambitious and his career plans are always at the back of his mind. He has the ability to study with a lot of dedication because he looks at life as a series of steps up to the top. He makes his own luck, if he's typical. Nobody owes him any favours, and he'll make it through his own efforts. He can make you very proud of him and what will appeal to you is the fact that he can be so down-to-earth about things. He's the best person to have around in an emergency. He doesn't muck around, he turns up when he says he will, and you know that you can trust him in love. He's typically not a floozy, and he will stick by you - probably seeing you as a partner rather than a girlfriend. Love is important to him, but his favourite dream is to have a woman by his side who is also working with him in a partnership. If you are really close he may already have suggested this. Perhaps you have a study partnership going. He might seem a bit too cool at times, but that could just be shyness. It's a signal for you to go in with a cuddle and a positive message. He isn't too sure about himself under all that ambition, so you can help by warming him up a bit.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

It should be a quieter time at home this year unless there are other factors in your personal chart working against this. You will find some big changes happening in your friendships, and this could affect the way you function at home. The chances are really all about making way for new people in your life, but you may find yourself retreating to think this over. Last year and also this year, there's a sense of you hiding yourself away at home. You need private time to think just because there are some changes going on deep inside you that are both a bit radical and confusing. You sense that this is a time to withdraw from the world, so your room is a natural place as Capricorns feel very comfortable at home. You won't have been going out as much in the past year, and that will continue in 1991, but it's actually quite good for you to be by yourself for a while now.

IN LOVE

The good news is that the first half of the year has the best vibes for love you've seen in ages. You could find a partner now who is very giving - and you'll feel like giving back. You will have some fantastic opportunities to build a love life that lets you do more than you've ever done before. If you are already with somebody, then the rules of your relationship will change so that you feel there's more to you both than was ever the case previously. If you are by yourself, then your chances of finding somebody special are extremely high. He could be quite an optimistic person and it's certain that before July your views on love will be full of high hopes. You'll be thinking positively and in the end this could be the reason why love seems to find you. If you like someone but you don't think they even know you're alive, be patient, they're bound to come around in the end.

YOUR CAREER

All of the upheavals in your job or school routine, your career choices and your part-time work, are now fading out. Last year and perhaps also in 1989 you went through a real clearing out process in your job and school life. Some things just had to leave you but it may not have been all that easy. That clearing out was necessary and now you should find that there are new moves in your job and school life that make it clear that you've changed from the inside out. It's a bit of a relief in a way, but now you can look back and see that all the changes were necessary, and your daily working routine probably did need a bit of a shake-up. There could be a promotion coming up after July which could in turn lead to travel - so make sure your passport is up to date and you've got a sturdy suitcase.

WITH FRIENDS

This is where the most fateful and powerful changes will come for you in the coming year. The changes will be slow but sure. They could also reach into 1992, so just remember to be patient as it will be a really subtle, long-range process, but by the end of it your attitudes to friendships, and life itself, could be quite different. It's probable that some of the friends you had last year won't be around - they'll have slowly shifted out of your circle in order for new kinds of people to come along and take their place. You won't have time to miss your old friends as there will be a swarm of new and exciting ones to take their place. There is a chance that there could be a bit of a power struggle with one of your friends this year. He or she will overstep the mark and dominate you to the point where you feel you just have to stand up for yourself. Of course, it could work the other way too, so be aware if you think you might be ruling over people in a way that is going to be unfair to them. There could be feelings of guilt and duty going on and in your friendships you might be looking at who has the most power, who is the most popular, who's the person everybody looks up to the most. You can get through this best by refusing to get into any silly bitchy fights, or playing games with other people. Be honest and be aware that there has to be a balance of power in your friendships. But remember to think before you speak - something you say could be taken out of context and you could lose a friend out of the argument that results.

THE AQUARIUS FEMALE

You are the rebel. You may be a quiet rebel or a noisy one, but there is certainly a refusal to accept the rules just because people tell you that's the way it is. You are a pretty independent person and you're not the type to lean on everybody. You know your own mind and you don't mind running around by yourself and acting differently to everybody else. You choose your own way of doing things and you don't mind standing on your own two feet. You don't run with what the group is doing. If everyone in your clique at school turns up wearing one particular look, then it's a safe bet that you'll turn the other way just because you can't stand blending in that far. You're also likely to be unusual in some way - perhaps in the way you dress, as already discussed, but also maybe because you like people and ideas that others think are downright weird. Nobody will call you a total flip-out but it's likely that you do worry more conservative people who can't understand you. You are the original New Age person - in fact, you were probably into all that before it became groovy. You like the idea of everything being equal and fair in the world, and that's another reason why you can be rebellious and question all the rules. If you don't agree with the way things are done at school or home you certainly won't shut up. You are always looking for a better way. Of course this can make you rebellious to the point where you are a real pain. You may not even have a very good reason for breaking the rules. John McEnroe has the Sun in Aquarius and so did James Dean - the original rebel without a cause. You like to shake things up. Boredom is the one thing that will see you running around trying to shock people into changing their ways. Mozart was another person who had the Sun in Aquarius, and like many people with this sign, he was way ahead of his time. You probably have one thing that is more important to you than anything else, and that's freedom. You have to feel unrestricted and you can't stand the thought of somebody telling you what to do and where to stay. For that reason your relationships with guys could be a little unusual. You aren't going to be dreaming about marriage at 18, with kids a year later. You want room to move and a bit of space.

THE AQUARIAN MALE

Check the guy in your class who wears the freaky clothes or sunglasses, gives the teachers hell and refuses to join in with what everyone else is doing. He's a classic example of an Aquarian guy who's gone right over the top. This sign gives your guy the ability to change things for the better, but when he's upset or going through a hard time you will see the other side of him. That's when he'll frustrate everybody by refusing to do what seems sensible, by jumping away whenever anybody tries to get him to fit in with the group. This guy can be great company. For a start, he sees far ahead of the usual routine that people put up with. He's a big thinker, always asking questions. If he's typical of his sun sign, he'll be into science fiction, the New Age movement, and probably some ideas and books you've never even heard of. He loves to fiddle around with computers and the new technology - in fact, because we are moving into the Age of Aquarius now, most people born now and in the last ten years have a fascination for computers, space, technology and astrology - these are all typically Aquarian things. Soon, he'll feel right at home in the world. But right now he could feel a bit uncomfortable. What makes him the most angry is feeling that his freedom, or somebody else's, is being taken away. He hates to think of anything being trapped, and that includes animals and people. One of the best ways to get rid of him quickly is to try and cling on, to possess him so much that he feels he's got to answer to you at the end of the day. He needs space, and while he's friendly and enjoys being in groups (a lot of them are in bands) he also needs to know he is out there by himself, being his own person. If something needs shaking up at school or work, he'll be the one to do it. He can come up with good reasons why a situation should be changed, and his ideas might sound a little bit wacky or unworkable but eventually you could see that he's absolutely right. In your relationship with him you might never feel as if you're number one in his life. He won't have another woman necessarily, but he can't just devote himself to one person. There's too much going on in the world, he figures. He can make you jealous because he's interested in everybody. Also, he can be really logical and almost lacking in emotions. Be careful with Aquarius, you'll have your problems with him, but you'll never find life dull.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

You could be bringing home some pretty unusual friends this year - the kind that make your parents jump up and down and wonder if somebody is having a bad influence on you. They just won't understand some of your friends. But you are in for an exciting, if a slightly confusing time, with your social life. You will find that your friends shake up your ideas and make you feel that you have more freedom than you have had for a long time. They won't tie you down, you'll be free to do what you want to do. There's also a chance that as well as bringing home more exciting and unusual friends, you will be spending time alone, in your room, getting quite serious and perhaps a little down about something. It's not anything you can explain to people, all you know is, you have to be by yourself to spend a bit of time working out what's making you tick. This period of withdrawing will be good for you but do remember not to take life too seriously - this is a passing phase like anything else and it's not going to dominate your life.

IN LOVE

After July you are in your best phase for years as far as love is concerned. For the second half of 1991 you will be encountering great opportunities to really improve and open up your love life. If you are already with somebody then you will find that your relationship becomes bigger and better. You and your boyfriend will be more generous with each other. If you are alone, then you will find that there are some great opportunities for new love in your life, and you will find the relationship makes you more hopeful about the future, as well as more cheerful on an everyday level. Your attitude to love in general will really lift and become optimistic after July, and this positive thinking should not be forgotten. Your attitude to love in the second half of the year is a lot closer to the reality of what you're really like than other times when you've been down about it. Remember to think positively!

YOUR CAREER

Your job and your status at school will be slowly but dramatically changed in 1991. It might not be such an easy time, but you can be sure that as the old ways disappear, the ground will be cleared for new things to take their place. It's quite possible that you could go through a power struggle at work or school this year. Somebody will be dominating you, or you will be doing the same thing to them. Be aware of the whole issue of power and be really quick to act if there seems to be an unfair situation, either because you or somebody else has been overstepping things. Try and be honest and clear about it and don't play silly games. It will be a long, slow process of change in your working life that goes into 1992 as well, so don't look for quick, one-off events. It's more subtle than that, but you can be sure that the way your life was going in your career last year will be a thing of the past. By 1992 your attitudes, your work environment, your career path and your whole outlook on what it means to work, will be revolutionised. Just be careful that you don't run into silly power plays along the way.

WITH FRIENDS

It's an exciting and even amazing year for friendships. You will be meeting new people who come right out of the blue. There's a good chance your new friends will be eccentric, have unusual hobbies, be Aquarians like yourself or Pisceans, be mysterious, a bit spooky, a bit New Age and maybe just downright weird, but you are going to have a great time discovering this stuff. You need shaking up now, and your friends will do this. At times you could be taken by surprise where your friends are concerned, but roll with the flow. Just be aware that there could be some deception going on - maybe the truth isn't being told somewhere, so just be prepared for it. That way you'll be able to avoid trouble. The other big message for 1991 is to get involved with a group, club, team or other organisation. This is where you can get inspired, find new freedom in your life, take up unusual interests and generally shake yourself up for the better. Once again, though, the rules are - don't get involved in any kind of deception, and be aware that you need freedom, so don't hold yourself in.

JAMES DEAN 8 FEB 1931

THE PISCES FEMALE

You are a gentle person, and if you are especially typical of your sign you will tend to be more shy than other people but also have a big heart. You really care about people and animals in suffering - Pisces females are the first to cry (this is a water sign, remember) if they take something to heart and many of them choose to become vegetarians or buy cruelty-free cosmetics because they take the suffering of innocent creatures very much to heart. You can be a bit bruised by the world, because you are sensitive, sometimes too sensitive, to what goes on. This sensitivity makes you something of a poet, whether you choose to express your poetry on paper or not, and you really respond to subtle, delicate stories and films. There is a side to you that seems to want to get yourself into situations where you'll be hurt. For example, you choose the worst possible course, or hang out with people who are bad for you. You may lack a good opinion of yourself inside, which is why sometimes you can choose these options that seem to your friends only designed to punish you. It's a weird streak with some Pisces females and it's one to be aware of. Remember that if you aren't quite sure if you're really worth as much inside, it's not because of who you are, it's because somebody may have said something hurtful to you when you were growing up and you took it to heart. You are as good, and sometimes even more amazing, than other people. You are sympathetic, a brilliant friend and you soothe people who are in trouble. The only problem with being everyone's friend is that you tend to take all their problems to heart. One thing to be aware of though is that you soak up people's emotions. You can't bounce off what other people are feeling, and that's why sometimes you'll take to heart exactly what somebody else is feeling, even though you started out fine. Try to remember that you need to buffer yourself a bit. You can be sympathetic without absorbing someone else's emotional state. Pisces women often choose jobs looking after other people. You really believe in humanity and human rights, so you could end up in hospital, nutritional, caring or religious work. These are areas where your natural sensitivity will pay off and there is also a side to you that needs to give tremendously - almost to the point of sacrificing your own time and money. You're so generous that you find it hard sometimes to say no. Please also be aware that you should not give too much.

THE PISCES MALE

He will be the kind of sensitive person you never really believed was out there. He may wear a mask if he's clever, but get to know him and you'll be amazed at how much he sees and understands about you and the world. He is creative, if he's typical of his sign, and can express himself through some artistic medium - either music, art or writing. This kind of expression is necessary to him because he feels things very deeply and it's almost as if he has to let it all out just to give himself a break.

He is typically the most sympathetic person you'll meet. He can listen for hours if somebody needs him, and he's the kind of guy who friends ring up at all hours, not necessarily for advice, but just because they know that being with him somehow calms them down. He can be a little bit too sensitive for his own good, making a big deal out of something very small that was said or done. If he sometimes turns strange with you, think back to what you said or did, because sometimes he may have taken things too seriously and been quite hurt by it. This guy is a lover of animals and humans. He believes in helping wherever he can and he can't stand suffering. It can move him to tears, although he'll have to trust you totally before you see this side of him - Pisces men find it hard to cope in our sexist society where they feel enormous pressure to hide their emotions because they were born male. Luckily, though, it's now more acceptable for guys to be sensitive to things, so your Pisces boyfriend probably won't have a problem expressing himself to you. He can be spot on with the way you feel, to the point where he can be psychic at times. He'll say things out of the blue that make you wonder if he knows more about you than you've given away and he does, in a totally harmless way. He just seems to be in touch with people more than others are. The biggest problem you'll have with him is that he either won't face reality or will just drift off and refuse to cope with it. Take him somewhere quiet and peaceful where the two of you can escape life's harsher realities. Bring him back to earth, but gently. Reality may be a bit of a burden to him at times and he'd rather be off in fantasy land, dreaming pleasant dreams. He needs to know the world isn't such a harsh place to be, and with luck, you can show him.

AT HOME

Last year was probably a great year for your life at home and maybe with your parents, too. Certainly the four walls where you live seemed to offer more pleasure and opportunity than was previously the case. In the first half of 1990 lots of you found yourselves in bigger or better places. Things are quieter on the home front this year, which probably means there's more going on at school or work than behind closed doors. One thing you can concentrate on in the second half of 1991 is your health. If you're not looking good on the nutrition front, then take advantage of the excellent star patterns after July for getting your body into peak condition. Try working out an exercise, relaxation and eating plan that you know will bring you into great shape physically and mentally. Be careful not to overdo it and you'll see bigger and better results than you ever expected.

IN LOVE

The first half of the year is at the very least good, and at the most, brilliant for your love life. Before July there are opportunities for romance that will see you rediscovering fun - and your partner is likely to be quite generous with you. It will be a giving relationship with lots of shared affection, energy and presents. Also good is the fact that you'll just be more optimistic about love than in the past. You'll see everything in a really positive light. If you are already with somebody your relationship will open up and expand. If you are alone, your chances of finding a great romance are very high indeed. One word of warning, though. Be ultra careful with contraception if you are having sex, because your love department is also your baby department. It's just a chance, but do be really careful here.

YOUR CAREER

Big changes here, no matter if you're working or at school. Expect the unexpected, like more freedom, probably coming to you in quite a surprising way. You may even find the pressure you felt from time to time no longer exists. There could be job changes out of the blue or a reshuffle that gives you more independence and more space to do your own thing. Along with this you could encounter unusual working conditions, weird people and a certain amount of confusion. It's really important this year that you be totally clear on signing things and speaking to important people. You could be subject to deception and misunderstanding, so be careful. Of course, you could also be the one fooling other people. It might be tempting to create a muddle so you can get out of some situation, but don't do it. You can expect that this year and also into 1992 there will be radical changes in your career, social status and school life that give you a whole new kind of freedom. Don't resist any upsets or changes now, they are designed to get rid of the cobwebs, so go with the flow.

WITH FRIENDS

Your friendship department is going to be a bit of a heavy one this year. You will be more serious with your friends than you normally are, and one in particular could be a real case with a burden on his or her shoulders. You will feel more responsible for your friends, as if something is depending on you, and it may be not such a good feeling for a while, especially if you live your life without too much resting on you normally. Don't worry, it's actually a brilliant period for you to learn the true meaning of friendship, but none of these rewards will seem like instant fun. You will have to work at being a good friend in 1991 and although it might seem a bit of a drag sometimes, remember that the more effort and energy you put into your friendships, the more you will appreciate what you have built up in years to come. A close friend may need lots of time and help and some of your friends may feel a bit neglected so try to smooth things over by carefully allocating your time. Don't be surprised if someone you haven't seen for a long time turns up on your doorstep for a quick visit and ends up staying longer.

THE ARIES FEMALE

You like to be first, if you are a classic Aries. The idea of trailing in behind everybody else makes you feel uncomfortable - you would much rather be in front of the crowd, or in front of the race, than anywhere else. Lots of women with this sun sign are pioneers in some way. They don't have time for the traditional female stereotypes - being a submissive creature who runs around batting her eyelids and saying "yes" to everybody is something that repels you. You don't mind being the person who makes the first move, and many Aries women find it challenging to find a guy they like, target him, and then drag him back to their cave. You really admire women who jump into situations, especially where there's an element of risk. You can relate to people like Madonna, who broke new ground in music, and also people like Gaby Kennard, who took off in a plane and flew solo around the world instead of playing the traditional housewife role. One thing that really annoys you is people who expect you to sit quietly and toe the line - you aren't so much a rebel as just an action addict. You often enjoy situations that other people find slightly risky or dangerous and there's no doubt that anything fast and physical, especially competitive sport, attracts the classic Aries woman. You can be a little bit too impulsive if you are typical of this sign, jumping in before you think much about what the results of your actions will be. Your energy is quite marked, and people often notice an Aries still fighting on when all around are dropping from tiredness. This kind of drive also makes you a bit of a party animal, and when you're feeling wild, you can lead everybody else into situations that some might see as risky, even though you are having a good time. Try and think more carefully before bolting forwards, because occasionally this will create problems for you in life. You may find it very easy to become angry; some of your friends may have trouble letting rip, but not you. On the other hand, some Aries females do have problems admitting the strength of their fury, and when a situation of tension arises, where you are holding everything in, try and understand that it is really easy for you to become quite angry, and come to terms with this emotion. Also remember that what the world needs now is more pioneers - Aries can lead the way.

THE ARIES MALE

Because Aries is such a masculine sign, this guy can seem like everybody's idea of the macho man. He will certainly be into physical action, if he's typical of his sign - fast sports, demanding solo exercise, pumping iron and yelling at the cricket - these are the classic Aries male pursuits that often give him this all-boy image. It's unusual to find him being a follower in any situation because his natural instinct is to lead. If you ever find a shy or submissive Aries guy, you'll know something is wrong. Chances are he's unhappy underneath it all, and could need his confidence rebuilt. You can have a lot of fun with this guy, and the only way you'll get bored is if you seek lots of long conversations and he's not giving them to you. He craves action, and he loves racing in to try something before everybody else gets there. The biggest problem you'll have with him could be the way he's quite happy to trample over other people to get what he wants. He can be really selfish if he's allowed to get away with it, and he sometimes needs it pointed out to him that it's necessary to co-operate in this life. He might like to think he's out on his own, but the sad thing is this attitude can actually end up making him lonely first, but eventually the Aries male will just yawn, roll his eyes, and charge off into the next relationship. Let him know he's Number One, but also make it clear that you are not Number Two, either.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

Your life at home will really expand this year, as all kinds of good opportunities come to you that mean you can finally improve and perhaps enlarge, or open up, the place in which you live. You could find some generous gestures around - gifts, loans, or offers of help - that could not only change the way your place looks and feels, but also make you feel that it's really a haven from the rest of the world. In 1991 many of you will actually move to somewhere bigger that offers you broader horizons; in fact, it's likely that the domestic scene is really the place where it's going to happen for you this year. Your relationships with parents will have changed for the better by the time Christmas comes around and even if you have had difficult relations with your mum and dad in the past, there should be a feeling of generosity flowing between you and them that will help to expand your relationship. There will be many more possibilities here than might be present at the moment, though it's likely that a high percentage of you will already have noticed that as 1990 closed, the home front and your parental relations were really easing up and for some, dramatically improving. The first part of the year will be more noticeable for home life improvements than the last half, so you should consider acting then. If you are looking at specific times for making moves to improve where you live, or the way you relate to your parents, then make a note of these dates:
The best time for people whose birthdays are in March is February 1991, late March 1991 and late May 1991.
For those born in early April, June 1991 is the best time.
If your birthday's in late April, then wait until August 1991.

IN LOVE

Last year was probably full of hassles as far as your love life went, because Pluto was hopping around in your partnership department. Pluto is the kind of planet which changes you quite powerfully, but also very slowly, so in 1991 your attitude to relationships, and perhaps also to marriage, will be different from the way you saw things in 1989. It's likely that last year the issue of power was quite a factor in your love life - you were concerned with who had control over whom, and the question of who the boss was in your relationship probably also had a bit to do things. The good news is, you won't feel quite so obsessed in love this year, nor so steamrollered by the whole issue of relationships and marriage. It's time to relax and enjoy yourself. The fun should start for you after late July, when Jupiter, the good vibes planet, starts doing great things in your love and creativity department. You can use Jupiter to help you with artwork, stories and poems - or just great ideas - but this planet is also famous for boosting your relationships. You can have a lot of fun here - the sense of heaviness that you might have felt with your love life previously will lift. There will be a real sense of perhaps not being with the Love Of Your Life, but nevertheless there's nothing wrong with having good times with somebody who is just a lot of fun to be with. One thing any astrologer would caution for you this year is to be careful if you are having sex and not using contraception. You are probably aware of this anyway, but don't take any risks with your contraception methods.

YOUR CAREER

Towards the end of last year you may have noticed a feeling of duty where studies or your job was concerned. That sense of having to knuckle down and perform will still be around in 1991, when responsibility will be a major issue. Some of you may get extra responsibilities in your studies or working life at this time and you could find things a bit of a drag as a result. The best way to get through this period is to accept that it really is a time when there are important things to learn, and to learn that hard work can actually be rewarding. You can either ignore the message of this transit, which is to accept that responsibility and hard work are necessary, or learn to let it become part of your life. If you do run away, you are likely to feel a bit down, or perhaps just very suffocated by what you see as unfair burdens. It would be better if you could see yourself as somebody who is in the right place at the right time - you won't get quick and easy rewards but you will learn things that will benefit you for the rest of your life.

WITH FRIENDS

Friends won't be a major spotlight for you in 1991, but after July you can certainly have good times with them. This period is likely to see lots of games and entertainment entering your life and there will be a round of films, theatre, parties and other goodies as Jupiter moves into your fun department. You can probably sit back and be entertained, but it would be a waste, because the energy of this year also suggests that any creative project you have with friends will go well for you. If you are considering joining a group where the focus is on acting, writing, painting, or any other creative pursuit, you can expect it to be a worthwhile and even unforgettable experience.

THE TAURUS FEMALE

Ask any Taurus female what's most important in life, and you can be sure love will be at the top of her list. You dislike being alone, if you are typical of your sun sign, and once you have decided who you want you will chase them with total dedication, despite any obstacles - even rejection won't stop you. You will hold on tightly, too, once you have the guy you've been looking for. You like to know that you are safe with your partner and that's why you go to incredible lengths to make sure he sticks by your side. Some signs really go for this approach - especially Cancer and Capricorn - but you may also find that Aquarians, Sagittarians and Geminis will turn around and label you possessive. You really enjoy the physical feel of another person and you can be quite sensual; your need for touch is intense and it can be this alone that drives you on to find a partner. Sometimes, it has to be said, almost any warm body on a cold night could do for you. It's really important that you control this need, because there will be times when you end up with somebody who just isn't worth it for the cuddle factor. You shouldn't have too many problems attracting the guys you value so much, because you take life as it comes which many people find a desirable thing. You are quite a patient person, and it can take you ages to become angry. If you are pushed too far you are less likely to hit the roof immediately than simply dig your heels in and refuse to budge. You tell yourself to hang in there and you know that your persistence and patience will get you what you want. This applies to the goodies you see in the shops, particularly. Taurus women are very big on buying presents for themselves and for others, and you might also expect your boyfriend to get you lots of luxurious gifts and feel quite disappointed if he doesn't. You really like beautiful things that make you feel good like perfume, clothing, jewellery and food. These possessions and indulgences are perhaps more important to you than almost any sign except for Leo. You don't see why you shouldn't have special luxuries around you which is one good reason why you should be careful with credit cards.

THE TAURUS MALE

This man could be the most loving companion you ever had. He isn't going to upset you by floozying around the place or by ignoring you when you need to be close. He might not be all that passionate or wild to begin with, but he is a gentle and patient person who doesn't mind taking things slowly - he'll stick with you to the end if you strike the right chord with him. He's the kind of guy who really appreciates what you wear and how you look. There is a classic love of all things visually striking and beautiful with Taurus that tends to dominate their lives. Other people will be looking at facts and figures, money and theories while he will be awestruck by just how beautiful things look. He can also be quite affected by music and may even have a great singing voice himself, or just the kind of speaking voice that makes you want to close your eyes and drift off listening to it. If you have a Taurus guy around, chances are at least half of your time together could be spent eating. He loves food - McDonalds or Thai - and he may even be quite a good cook if he is typical of his sign. He may be a little on the cuddly side as a result, or just put on the weight as he gets older, too. He likes the finer things of life and is pretty good at delaying homework or the 9 to 5 routine just so he can laze around and enjoy a few luxuries. He's the kind of guy who knows what comfort means - he'll plan an evening with every detail taken care of, and bring home a bag with three videos, popcorn, chocolate, and any other creature comforts he needs and settle into the best chair in the room and refuse to move for the rest of the night. Something that could be frustrating with him is his love of routine. He needs to know that everything is running just as it always did, and that he can cling on to old friends, old places and old habits that have run their course as far as you're concerned. He can get into a rut if he's not careful, but he will have trouble changing because the nature of his sun sign is to stay with what is familiar, even though it's not necessarily the best thing for him. Taurus males may well be into the environment, bushwalking, gardening and all things of the earth. You often see Taurus men close to the earth - either sprawled out on the grass, digging things up, or carefully recycling their rubbish so that the flora and fauna won't suffer. He is a really sensual person and will probably enjoy physical body language - if you're a cuddler not a talker, you'll relate well to him.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

Your home life and your relationship with your parents will really take a leap up after July. You can expect to move to a bigger and better place, find home renovations going on, expect new decorating schemes, or a change that makes your home environment seem not so closed in or humdrum. The same energy affects your relationship with your parents and it's likely that you will find you are feeling more generous towards them, while they are returning the same generosity towards you. If there have been arguments with neither side giving in then you will find that after July one of you makes the first move and it all becomes a lot happier. If you already have quite a good relationship with your parents then at the very least you can expect changes after July that will expand the way you see them. They may become a bigger part of your life, or you just might start to see them in a different way. They might actually help you to broaden your horizons, either in your attitude, a great travel experience, or an educational course they offer to help with.

IN LOVE

Your partnership is the area where you will find the slowest-moving but also the most powerful changes in 1991. Pluto will be moving into your love department, and this planet tends to get rid of the old so that you can prepare for the new. This could actually mean saying goodbye to some attitudes that don't fit you any more - it could be time to change the way you see love, and perhaps the way you see your boyfriend. This isn't necessarily a hard thing or a negative thing at all, but it will require you to be totally honest and admit when something is over, or when you just have to change your mind on something. There may also be a power struggle in your love life in 1991, when either you or the person you are with is on a bit of an ego trip and is just being too bossy for their own good. Once again, it's important to recognise exactly what is going on. You might be manipulating him or he could be doing the same to you. Don't play games if you can help it, it's not worth it.

YOUR CAREER

The first part of the year is best for any letters, essays or phone calls related to your studies or working life. If you have something important to write down or say then it's well worth acting before June so that you can take advantage of good fortune in your communications department. Just be careful that you don't go over the top and say the wrong thing merely because you feel like it. Otherwise, people will be eager to hear what you've got to say and some of you may even take up jobs in the communication industry early in the year. Those of you in higher education or further studies will find it a year when everything seems to be a bit of a burden to you. The good news is you are in a phase of life now when a disciplined attitude and hard work will really pay you big dividends. The catch is it may never have been more of a challenge to knuckle down. Saturn, the toughest planet we have, is in your study department, so you can expect to have lots of responsibility here, maybe lots of essay deadlines to meet, and a feeling that teachers may be demanding too much. They aren't, in reality. It's just that's the way you could see things this year. You can gain heaps, though, if you accept that it's a phase when you can really learn that hard work brings ultimate satisfaction. Roll with it, and you can change for the better.

WITH FRIENDS

Friendships won't be the focus of your life this year, however, you may have some "interesting" experiences in 1991. Firstly, there could be a power struggle. Either you or another friend will be vying to be top dog in some way, and it's going to take a lot of clear thinking to see exactly what is going on. Don't be muddy when you communicate with this person, just tell it like it is. You don't need power trips in your life, either, so also be aware that you shouldn't give in to somebody if they are taking more than their fair share - just stand your ground. In the second half of the year you will have good times if you invite friends back to your place rather than bolting out of the house with them all the time.

THE GEMINI FEMALE

The classic giveaway where Gemini females are concerned is the fidgeting. Gemini cannot keep still, even if you tie her up with rope and force her to meditate for a week. The hands are another clue - Geminis love to wave their hands around to get a point across, and they may also have a skill that they use their hands for. They could be brilliant with musical instruments, needlework, craft or some other tricky task that requires nimble fingers. The other Gemini talent is for communication. You are bound to love talking and writing, just because you hate the thought of sitting still and shutting up when there's so much to say. You enjoy gossip and can even be an A Grade gossip yourself, passing notes and getting the news around the streets in five minutes flat. You can be a little bit on the hyper side, mainly because you have a lot of nervous energy to burn. For this reason, Geminis tend to be on the thin side - a plumper Gemini probably has other signs dominating her personal horoscope. You can be quite funny when you want to be, and you really appreciate somebody who can make you laugh. You also have an ability with words that can extend to doing crossword puzzles, playing Scrabble, or just dashing off the kind of postcards that your friends love to keep. Your faults probably lie in the fact that you can't take anything too deeply or too seriously. At times, it can seem to other people from water and earth signs that you don't care at all. This may be a problem for you in love, because you do enjoy flirting, and it can be hard for people to accept that you're not serious sometimes. You have a horror of being bored and that's why you like to experiment and play the field. Sometimes you wish you could have a combination of several guys at once, built into the same body, just to keep you

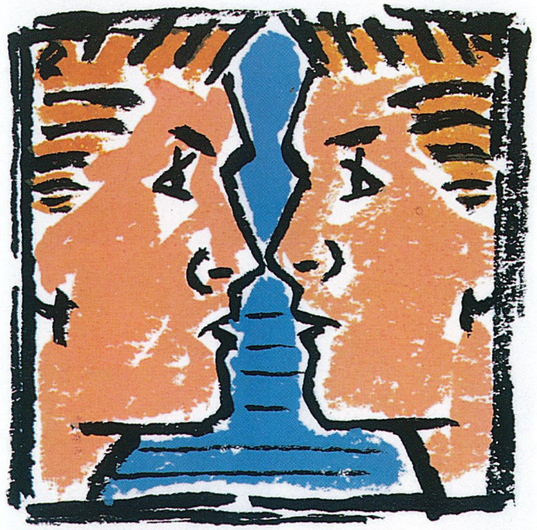
colours - YELLOW, SILVER AND amused. You probably have a sparkle in your eye, hazel eyes, or eyes that dart around, taking in 100 things at once. Think of the way Kylie Minogue uses her eyes and you'll get the point - she's a super Gemini, and it shows. Your biggest problem in life will be choosing one thing and sticking to it. You get bored easily and thrive when you're on the move. But because you can't keep still you can run around from one interest to another without ever really achieving anything in one particular field. Your karma in life is to learn to take things more deeply and respect that there is more to life than your instant summary of it.



THE GEMINI MALE

This guy could be either a bookworm or unable to keep his mouth shut. Gemini is all about learning, mental activity and verbal and written communication, so there is a real love of words here that can keep you in fits of laughter, or have you reaching for the dictionary in an effort to understand the guy. It's quite normal for lots of Gemini males to end up working in some form of communication - try writing, teaching, public speaking, advertising, sales, data processing, phone work or Telecom employment. He won't be able to stick at one job for very long, if he's typical, because the Gemini male likes to keep on moving. This applies to his attitude to love as well; there's something about commitment that makes him feel uncomfortable, which is why you may not get any promises from him. He's scared that if he declares undying love to you, he'll change his mind a week later. He's not selfish or deliberately a user, it's just that he does need an awful lot of variety in his love life. To keep up you might have to be as flighty as he is or at least have lots of different sides to you to keep him interested. Geminis are great with kids - probably because they are big kids themselves. He will probably enjoy school more than most, if he is typical of his sun sign. Even when your Gemini bloke gets older, he'll always be taking courses and picking up information. He can actually be quite a good candidate for Sale Of The Century because he picks up stuff from everywhere and never forgets it - even if it is all trivial. He appreciates wit and clever conversation and nothing shakes him out of boredom faster than somebody who is playing word games with him. His interests, too, are varied and he'll take up any number of hobbies, only to drop them next week. He can change his look, too. Jason Donovan is a Gemini and has the ability to change his clothes, his hair and his image quite quickly, as the mood takes him. The Gemini male is incredibly curious about everything and has trouble standing still or sticking with the same lifestyle for too long. He is also famous for doing several things at once. This is the kind of guy who watches TV while pressing the remote control, eating chips and writing a letter at the same time. To some people the Gemini male can seem to be lots of different people crammed into one. Just when you think you know exactly what kind of guy he is, he'll turn around and present quite a different side of himself to you. Always moving, always changing, he's a tough one to handle but at least you can say you'll never, ever be bored with him.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

The home front looks quieter this year, but if your financial state is connected at all to an allowance from your parents, then the first half of the year should see some kind of increase here. If you are looking for extra work yourself, then you can expect some kind of bonus or opportunity to make a bit of cash but you'd better hang on to it because you'll be building up your collection of books and magazines in the second half of the year. There should be lots of good opportunities in your local neighbourhood after July, and you can expect what might normally have been a ho-hum life in the suburbs to open up for you. There'll be lots of positive action and energy around after July in the place where you live, so maybe you could get involved with a local community project to get the most out of it.

IN LOVE

The love trends in 1990 confused and excited you all at the same time. That is continuing in 1991, but don't expect lots of big events, just a continuation of the same general vibrations of last year. You could be shocked by a guy who makes a move; at the very least he will shock quite a few of your friends because he could be the last person they expected you to end up with. He might be of a different culture from you, older or younger, or just the kind of guy nobody ever thought they would see you with. If you experienced a situation in 1990 where you didn't see a guy for what he really was, it's not surprising. Neptune, the foggy planet, is sitting in your love area, so you will have found it easy to fool yourself and perhaps be fooled where somebody was concerned. That is still the case this year, so if you haven't already learned from the experience, then be highly aware of seeing somebody in a rosy light that isn't reflecting what they really are. Similarly, you could be fooling yourself over a relationship so listen to your common sense, and perhaps your mates, because they will have the best advice. You're liable to find yourself too popular for words in July and could have your balancing skills tested by the number of guys you'll be juggling.

YOUR CAREER

There will be a slow upheaval in your everyday routine, no matter if it's at school or work. The kinds of subtle changes you can expect will involve how much responsibility, control or power you have where you are. Things will shift around so that you are thinking more about what rights you have and also the rights others have to influence your everyday working routine. It's the sort of situation that is hard to pin down but one thing's for sure - by the time 1991 is over your everyday pattern of work will have changed dramatically and the balance of power at school or work will also have shifted in the process. October is a good time to ask for what you want, whether it's a pay rise or a little bit of help.

WITH FRIENDS

It's your best friendship that may be most affected this year - the person you look on as your partner, in other words. This can either be a male or a female, but it's somebody you see as the other half of your most important friendship. What you can expect here is quite a lot of excitement, action and events that come out of the blue to give your friendship a shake-up. You may also find that you are getting quite confused about where you stand with your best friend, though. One of you may be saying or doing things that make everything unclear and confused. It's best to state everything as clearly as you can with your best friend this year, and be totally honest as well. Deceit could be a problem so keep everything out in the open and don't keep any secrets or try to fool your friend. By the same token, be really aware if there is any chance at all that she may get you tangled up in a situation where there's a lot of deception going on. The end of the year could see a close friend going overseas. It will be a chance to plan a huge party.

YOUR ASTROLOGY LOVE CHART

Find your sign in the YOU column, then check his sign under HIM. Where both the signs meet is

YOU \ HIM	CAPRICORN	AQUARIUS	PISCES	ARIES	TAURUS	GEMINI
CAPRICORN	This is the kind of teamwork that could run Australia. You are both ideal in a situation where you will be working together, just because you have exactly the kind of cool ambition that makes things happen. You can switch each other on to a more positive way of looking at life, which is good, because Capricorn can become gloomy at times. It won't be wildly romantic, but you'll feel loved.	Here he comes again, tempting you by the way he looks, and possibly also his rebel stance. It's kind of exciting, but after a while you will find out that he is a closet fruitcake. That's the way it will seem, anyway. The guy seems to have antennae on his head, not ears. He'll be off with the pixies, off with Greenpeace, off to the moon, the whole bit. You could seem too normal for him.	This could work, despite the reservations you have at the start. The reason is simply that this guy can really appreciate things about you you're too shy to even talk about. He can see quite clearly why you are the way you are, and he doesn't mind talking about it. This can freak you out a little, but ultimately you'll love the feeling that there's a real need there. Patience is required but it's potentially happy.	How can he be so selfish, you wonder, when you do every little thing to make his life ordered and happy for him.The guy sometimes seems like he's on self-destruct, he's so happy to run risks. You can be so sensible that it's hard not to take your advice, but Aries will be one of the few to head for the hills and lose his common sense altogether. You're both ambitious, but that's about it.	This is a good old-fashioned man, the kind of guy who is gentle and won't go around stamping all over your ideas of good manners and cool behaviour. He also has the kind of common sense that makes you sigh with relief. You can't be bothered with those guys that run around like zombies, you want somebody who's got his head together. With this one, you've found what you're looking for.	There is a kind of link here, because your sense of humour is so strong that anybody with a few witty lines will really attract you. He is great in that area, but you just can't believe the way he is so hopeless at sticking to things. You don't really trust him, if you're honest about it, which is why things will become quite frustrating. The solution is lots of patience from you.
AQUARIUS	He can be so one-eyed about getting what he wants that you will feel like escaping. Sometimes you see Capricorn men at parties with their Aquarian mates looking quite frenzied - the thing is, you'll want to wander off and talk to the world, and he's a little bit nervous about the wilder types who create chaos. It will take some persuading to make him loosen up. You'll laugh a lot.	A definite hit but your friends and family will run screaming into the nearest cupboard. You are so alike, and yet will spend a lot of your time deliberately trying to shock each other by doing the thing that was least expected. Strange stuff, but you like it. You will feel totally free together and won't have a relationship that looks anything like we've seen before. Save the world and have fun.	Can we be honest for a moment and say that although you secretly would love to think you really need a sensitive New Age guy, there is a limit to how emotional you want to get with people. You can really flip out with him, because on the one hand you admire his attitude and can listen to his dreams, but on the other you really feel like he's going to drown you with all that emotion. Worth trying.	You could go along with this one except for the fact that he could be a bit too self-centred. He knows exactly what he wants, which you like, but he doesn't mind stamping all over people to get there. He's not deliberately a meathead, you tell yourself, it's just that he acts before he thinks. You do the opposite but there's enough of a mutual admiration society for this one to come out as happy.	The clash here comes from the fact that he likes to see the traditional things in life kept alive, and you are preparing for the revolution. You can go with the latest and most exciting ways of thinking while he will be in front of the TV hoping that the routine will make him feel safe again. On a bad day you can come across as being totally crazy to him. This needs work.	At last, a man who is all brain and no emotion. Actually, that's a bit of an astrological exaggeration, but in truth it's the ideas that go humming between you that excite you. You tell your friends the man is a genius - and best of all, he's on that weird electric wavelength that you thought only you and the garden gnome next door were on. He is not as concerned about changing the world as you are but it's hot.
PISCES	He will appreciate the fact that you're a different species - in a funny kind of way he needs to be with somebody like you, who's got such an incredible imagination that it makes him feel like a dummy. In turn, you respect his hard work and his drive. You may not totally agree with his values but you do feel he gives you a sense of being on Planet Earth. You dream - he helps you get there.	He is such a cool creature that you may feel like you've been locked inside a fridge for ten years. How do you crack something like this, you wonder, as he switches off yet again. The answer doesn't lie with hard work from you, because you will honestly feel quite exhausted by the effort. It's more to do with finding common ground, and that could mean high hopes and big causes.	This will be a psychic match. You will know what the other is thinking and feeling without any words necessarily passing between you. It's a crazy kind of relationship in a way, because when you are together it's almost as if you're not on the same planet as the rest of us. You go racing off together, flipping out on films and books, and it's like reality's not there any more. It's bound to be hot.	Money could be at the basis of your arguments, or perhaps his pushy attitude. The Aries male needs goals to strive for, and often it's something you don't value, if you're honest about it. You shudder to think what he might say to people when you're not around, and you can feel a bit overwhelmed by him. He can really push you around emotionally and it will be extremely hard work for you.	The nice thing about this guy is he really appreciates that there's more to life than what some people call success. He likes good music, films that take him away, and smells, sights and sounds that make him appreciate all of life - not just the money, school, work bit. You can really go for this kind of approach and you'll also love the way he pulls your dreams back down-to-earth.	The problem here will simply be that you find him so superficial. He just takes things so lightly that you'll sometimes feel quite hurt. You are one of those signs that can easily be moved to tears, so you will honestly feel like running off if he tries to fool around on a subject that means a lot to you. He will be impressed by your understanding of him but perhaps feel a bit scared by it, too.
ARIES	Whoops, he's so slow and steady that you could become very frustrated. He can be a bit shut-off emotionally, but you have a natural urge to push yourself forward. He could find you too much of a party animal, while you could find his practical concerns quite boring. He's careful and steady; you do the first thing that comes to mind. He can be as cold as Antarctica, which just won't do at all.	He's unusual, but you can put up with life's eccentrics. He may stand out in a crowd and be considered a bit of a risk by your more conservative friends, but that just makes you even more enthusiastic. Perhaps you could find somebody warmer, because he can be quite cool about life - but it's his brilliant mind that will get you in the end. He dreams the sorts of things others could never see.	He can pick up vibes from you that you'd rather were kept private. He is intensely emotional, can get a little down about things, and basically it won't be easy for either of you. He admires your guts and your energy, but you will tire of being an example for him. In turn, he wishes you could be a little bit more sensitive and stop charging around like a tornado.	Fights could help make for a passionate match, because both of you love nothing better than staring each other out. It will be a physical relationship with lots of games being played - together you are the kind of couple who love nothing better than a passionate arm wrestle. What you really like most about him is the simple fact that he isn't a wimp and never will be.	He wants to stay down-to-earth; but you'll be up and away, so this one could be really hard. You love the idea of being a pioneer and taking risks, but Taurus guys love security more than anything else, so you'll be pushing it if you think you can keep him without giving up your wilder ways. He is stubborn, but what will keep you going is your optimism. This one will definitely need work.	You'll laugh a lot with him, which is half the battle. He urges you on to bigger and better things, but the nice thing about this match is he'll know you really need him around. It could be quite passionate when it gets going, but remember Gemini can't keep still. He's a natural flirt, so you could lose your temper at times. Basically, there's no boredom here - just lots of sparks.
TAURUS	Now this is the kind of guy your mother probably wanted you to marry. He's on the way up, he knows exactly what his goals are, but he's not some flashy Yuppie, either. He's just a regular guy who happens to be aiming for the top, and secretly you like that kind of attitude, because you know when it all happens he'll be owing at least half of it to your valuable attentions. You are both very chemically attracted.	Here we go, space cadet time. The man is on another planet, which may be why he hangs around you, because you are so down-to-earth and sensual that he can't understand the mixture. He is curious about you, which will flatter you, but eventually you'll get irritated by the way he treats everybody - even strangers - with this kind of intense fascination. It makes you feel nervous. The match means trouble.	This could be quite a good one for you. He is a closet poet and you are the kind of person who can bring out this unusual yet very appealing side of him. You'll be amazed at how sensitive he can be, and in turn he will find great comfort because you know how to drag him back to reality. He needs you, and you love that feeling because it underlines the fact that he'll stick around.	How do you keep a guy like this under control? You are a bit put off by his boots-and-all approach, and sometimes you wish he'd just grow up a little bit. These guys can be like overgrown kids sometimes, and you could become a little sick of being frazzled all the time. He's exciting, sure, but just too irresponsible in your eyes. You are also one of the females who likes to take things easy, so it's hassles.	You can curl up together and enjoy great music, food, and generally anything (clothes, films, great books) that switches on the senses. This is such a physical relationship that you can speak through your bodies rather than your brains, but the nice thing is you will appreciate your mutual need for security and stability. It's the kind of match that's hot.	Good grief, he's running around in five different directions while you're still talking about putting the kettle on. He can make you laugh and lighten you up, but he'll really confuse you if you are typical of your sun sign. The man likes to talk, but you're more of a quiet creature who would rather take everything in through the senses. You like physical pleasures, he's all brains. The match means hassles for you.
GEMINI	How you got together nobody knows. Perhaps it's your sense of humour striking a chord. Whatever it is, you will really have to work here because you have just struck Mr Serious, and he's just made himself extra-nervous. He doesn't know what you're up to, where you're going, or perhaps if you even love him that intensely. The guy needs to know he's safe. You need to know there's more to life than that.	A brilliant match. Together you will shine and amaze the world with those quickfire ideas that bounce between you. He is a bit wacko at times, but you don't care because anybody that can keep you interested for longer than five minutes is okay, even if they are slightly, um, off-beat. He can be cool, perhaps too cool, at times but you really understand each other at heart.	This guy picks up vibes that even you haven't seen. He can tell you what you're about to say even before you open your mouth, but this is perhaps why he doesn't feel comfortable around you. You are such a wild child that all those quick changes of mind coming from you will confuse him. He likes emotion. You aren't bothered.	You like to see somebody who charges into life without worrying first, and this is just what an Aries man is like. He is amused by you, because your attitude is both cool and naturally funny. This in turn pleases you because you know he needs you around without anything too emotional and intense occurring. It could be light, bright and happy.	Perhaps the biggest hitch with this one is that he doesn't vary his routines much. You could find him downright predictable, which is the kiss of death for Geminis. You need change - fast. You also need to know that life is a series of risks. This makes him nervous and so he might head off, quite stubbornly, in the other direction. You flirt, but he doesn't.	This is like a double act. You skip around each other like a couple of fast-moving rabbits, never standing still long enough to get intense, but still very much bonded. Words mean a lot to you both. You probably have your own made-up language, and the love letters that fly between you are worth keeping. The only problem is you are both natural flirts, and you may change your mind all the time.

RATINGS: HOT HAPPY HASSLES HEADACHES

where you'll find your chances of a match.

HIM / YOU	CANCER	LEO	VIRGO	LIBRA	SCORPIO	SAGITTARIUS
CAPRICORN	This is an opposites attract situation, which you're probably already aware of. He has the same desperate need for security that you do, and you can actually provide a good balance for each other. However, there's also the little matter of your logic versus his flipped-out way of looking at things. His emotions don't know the meaning of facts sometimes and this may be what gets you.	You are so ambitious that you like to feel that the guy you are with also has big plans for himself. You don't like mucking around for too long; to you life has a purpose and you have to get in there and work to get what you want. This guy can appreciate that and he'll probably compete with you as well. That's where the problems lie, because his pride and ego could turn you off.	He copes well with the kind of situations that you feel shy in, probably because he's so cool that he doesn't feel hassled by other, crazier people. You really like that but, best of all, you know that you are very much the same at heart. You both like the simple, quiet things in life as opposed to running around and being over the top. You are both down-to-earth and honest. A good one.	There is a sense that he is so charming and popular that you really feel you could benefit just by knowing him. He has a kind of circle around him that would also make you feel secure, so it is tempting to get in there just to become part of his life and feel the protection he has through friends. This may work for a while but he can be a bit of an airhead in the end.	It's the kind of relationship where you feel you are the base he needs to run his life from. This is fine by you because he also has enough passion to make you feel alive again - long after other guys have just about flattened you. He will show you a side to life that intrigues you. He is also a mystery to you, and you will never get tired of trying to solve what's going on behind those incredible eyes.	He will make a run for it if you restrict him too much, and as much as you might love him, there is a real temptation to sit him down and make him see sense about life. You just can't be bothered with his lack of commitment, and don't understand why he won't see that you can relate on the most basic level. That's the way you see it anyway, but the truth is, it's Ms Together versus Mr Wild.
AQUARIUS	How can anybody be so wrapped up in their own little world, you wonder, as you sit down with your friends to talk about the bigger issues. He wants you for himself, you want to share yourself around with everybody. You can't be bothered with traditional relationships where both of you stick like peanut butter. You want new rules. He gets worried by them.	This will be a real battle because on one level you secretly like the way he runs around ordering everybody to do things, and creating dramas. You like that kind of behaviour just because it's so different to your own. In the end he'll be too much of an ego freak, and maybe too superficial about the things that matter, for you to cope. You care about more than having a good time. This one means headaches.	This creature has lots in common with you, if only because he has the knack of standing back from emotions and looking at things coolly and logically. It's all computed in his head, which you like. After all, emotions are crazy things. For all that though, you're still too much of a space cadet. He can't figure out why you won't settle down and you don't like to have your freedom cut off.	This sort of relationship survives because on a very deep level it just feels so right. Your interests may be quite different, and to outsiders it could seem strange that you're together, but really, it's the way you both like to be cool about things that makes you so surprisingly comfortable with each other. He doesn't make you feel squashed or suffocated, and he in turn loves your uniqueness.	He won't talk about things too easily if he's typical of his sign - there's so many secrets in his life that it can be like sitting opposite a bomb that's about to go off. He can really interest you just because you're a student of human nature, but apart from that you can't cope with the guy's obsessiveness. You have time for everyone and everything, he likes to keep things small. This causes headaches.	You can flip along for a while and have fun here, especially if you're travelling together. This is one of those learning relationships. The first day you're together you'll be so excited you'll be throwing books and records at each other. It's a case of switching each other on to the weird and wonderful in life - you both cringe at the thought of hanging around the suburbs all your life. You want more.
PISCES	You have found somebody who is surprisingly in tune with you here, just because there's an emotional bond that is obvious even from the first meeting. He really appreciates how richly you experience life and is sensitive enough to share what he feels. He might be a bit of a lad on the surface, but there's more to this boy than meets the eye. He can learn heaps from you so don't be shy.	The mystery is why did you ever find yourselves attracted at all? It must be your personal charts, because on a sun sign level, we're talking about ego versus ego. It's probably more to do with him than you, but you'll become frustrated at the way he doesn't even seem to realise that certain things are really important to you. You can't cope with his bossiness or his dramas.	There will be a bond here that you know goes beyond sharing the same tastes in music, people or food. You really see a kind of past life in a lot of people, because you are perhaps the most psychic sign of all. With him, you'll feel like you've known him for ages. It would be nice if it worked out totally, but you could find hassles just because he uses common sense too often.	The final result of this relationship will be a bit like a soccer game where both of you have continually been scoring equal points and going nowhere. There's no real passion here, or even a sense of making a connection. He skips along on the surface being Mr Popularity, and you are swimming somewhere about 10,000 feet below the surface. You may not even meet in the middle.	This kind of relationship is very powerful, and there may even be a bit of a power struggle along the way. You love mysteries, because you are one of the few people who can understand them. He, in turn, is so covered up that he really will be knocked out when you can explain his own secrets to him. You can go into a very deep and passionate relationship here, and achieve lots.	Sometimes you'll feel as if he should be tied up with rope just to keep him concentrating on being with you. You can be impressed by the fact that he has beautiful dreams - that's just how you feel, too - but he is full of energy and sometimes that can just exhaust you. He also gets threatened if you seem to need him too much and that kind of game just ends in havoc.
ARIES	He is so emotional he could get on your nerves a bit. You haven't got time to hang around drowning in your own feelings, you have a real need to strike out in the world and be a woman of action. This guy could feel left out because he basically wants somebody to make him feel secure. He also likes to see women in the home, which is like a red rag to a bull with you. This'll need work.	Now this guy really likes to go over the top so you should have a lot of fun working out which dramatic, risk-taking scheme you can tackle together next. He is a fire sign, just like you, so there will be lots of heat between you. Neither of you are lacking in the ego department but remember that this can spur you on to better things.	You really feel like hitting him sometimes, because he's so picky. You will feel really good about his intense curiosity - it's so flattering to have this man asking you all about yourself. However, you will eventually feel interrogated. Your reaction is to race into things with him, but he is quite careful so you could just end up getting quite wild and doing something stupid that puts him off forever.	Now there could be a case of fatal attraction here, because although your friends tell you he's not right, there's chemistry working that will really push you together. He loves everything to be light, bright and peaceful. You can drive him crazy because although you're not a drama queen, you enjoy action - even blazing arguments. He'll find this quite unsettling.	He is passionate, which you enjoy. But he's so secretive and closed off that after a while you could get quite bored. Who needs an emotional wreck, you think, when there's a whole world out there to conquer? He can be really passionate, which is something you enjoy when it's directed at you, but these guys also get obsessed about hobbies, which could bore you to death. Still, it's happy.	You are always looking at life positively, and so is this guy. You can really become fired up here, because here is somebody who won't pour cold water on your dreams. You have such a wide sense of vision that you'll really be pleased to discover somebody else who thinks big, and also has the optimism to chase life without worrying about the consequences. It's fire plus fire, and the result for you is dynamite.
TAURUS	You will need to be positive here, because he will drain you emotionally if you give him half a chance. You are earthy and strong in his eyes. He needs you perhaps more than wants you at times - which is a hard thing to admit to. It could be happy as long as you pull him up when you feel he's leaning too hard on you emotionally. You need to have feedback too, so let him know.	What an ego, you think, as you listen to him talking about his wonderful body/fab brain/great sense of humour for the third time that morning. He is a great guy - his warmth really attracts you - but he likes to dominate, be dramatic, create a scene and generally come on like an Oscar-winning actor, not a human. That's the way you'll see it most of the time.	He is subtle, which is a nice change from some of those guys who just go wham-bam, and you can ease into this relationship really slowly and easily - a bit like getting into a nice bubble bath. He loves security as much as you do, so you will feel calm. You both enjoy doing nice down-to-earth things like going for long walks. Together you can drive other people mad because you both seem so together, but don't worry - just enjoy it.	He won't make up his mind quickly if he's typical of his sign. It can drive you mad, because you can see lots of good, solid reasons why you should be together - but he'll be wobbling all over the place. His charm gets you every time, and there's a link here that is based on your mutual love of art, music, and the beautiful pleasures in life. You are both visual people, but he can be an airhead.	He almost sums up a side of yourself you'd rather wasn't there. Perhaps that's why you find him so fascinating. He's everything you're not, but that can be kind of attractive to you, so with Scorpio, you could flip out completely. You will find him secretive and quite intense about everything. He could get a little tired of you being so practical all the time. It will take a lot of work.	He is possibly too adventurous for you because he honestly likes to disappear without telling you where he's going. He is open and friendly, which can attract other females and end up making you feel really unloved and insecure - the biggest no-no of all for nice, security-craving Taurus girls. He could be attracted to you because you'll keep him on track, but it's hard work.
GEMINI	If there is any attraction at all here, it's probably because other planets in your chart link up. You just weren't meant to be together, no matter how strong the chemistry seems. He is emotional, craves security, likes sticking to the home front, and can't understand why you have to bolt like Phar Lap when security beckons. You can move too fast for him and he won't understand. Oh-oh.	You like this guy because he is always attracting attention, and he's a pretty sociable creature, too. You couldn't be with anybody who didn't cope well at parties. He doesn't mind if you flit around, just as long as you let him think he's boss. In turn, he'll be so warm and generous that you'll feel loved but not smothered. You make each other laugh, and you are one of the few women who won't blow his pride.	You will be attracted on a very deep level, perhaps without knowing why, because on the surface you seem so different. He is far too security-minded for you, and you seem to be a bit of a crazy creature to him when he's feeling ungenerous towards you. You are basically part of each other, but which part nobody knows...The problems come from your low boredom threshold.	This could be one of those wonderful guys you didn't believe actually existed. He loves to flit around on the surface and make jokes, just as you do. He doesn't get all smoochy and suffocating, unlike some of the other guys you've known. He genuinely likes people and is almost as much of a party person as you. Problems, when they emerge, will centre on his need for balance and your need for change.	He might seem cool at first but eventually you'll get all hot and bothered because the man is just so damned intense. He gets worked up about nearly everything. You can only take life so far, and then it's just so serious it's a drag. That's when you'll be looking for fun and games, while he's still sunk in a kind of intense emotional bog. You will cope by being patient, but it still means hassles.	You are like the flip side of each other. He's the more intense side of you, while you are the cooler side of him. You love the way he chases freedom, because that's exactly how you feel about life. In turn, he doesn't throw a fit just because you want to spread yourself around and be with other people apart from him. He can irritate you, finally, because he wants everything to be so perfect.

HIM	CAPRICORN	AQUARIUS	PISCES	ARIES	TAURUS	GEMINI
YOU
CANCER	He can seem like a bit of a Big Daddy figure at times. In fact, it's weird how often Cancer females choose male Capricorns who bring back memories of the way their father was. He is stable, which you love. You are sensitive, which he admires - after all, emotions are so scary that he sometimes doesn't admit he has them at all. There's chemistry there but this one can really drag you over the coals.	There's nothing really there to draw you together. Perhaps you feel like hanging out with some cool dude instead of Mr Intensity, but the fascination won't last. Your moods intrigue him and when you're feeling wild and wacky, he is definitely the best companion. However, he is just so detached that you could easily believe you're with a robot sometimes.	This is the kind of love match that makes Gone With The Wind look like Play School. Deep, intense, heavy, emotional, unforgettable - is that enough to start with? He is a bit of a spook, and picks up vibes from you that might make you a little nervous at first. One thing to watch out for is the way you can over-influence each other. But it's sensitive and fascinating, too. Good grief!	You'll find him a little bit selfish at times. You prefer a guy to be like a kind of big teddy bear, but this one is more like a mad elephant sometimes. You want lots of cuddles and security, but Aries just races off and does his own thing without consulting you first. He can be quite unsettled by your sensitivity. You can be really rattled by the way he puts himself first. You will really have to work here.	He is stubborn, which means your ever-changing moods could confuse him. He makes up his mind and sticks there for about 100 years, but you can really swing between wild-child behaviour and coming on like Hazel Hawke. What makes it work ultimately is he knows you need him so much. He is really together in your eyes, while to him, you are so sweet and sensitive that he can't help himself.	You like to feel that there will always be somebody there for you. You dream about kids and a beautiful home perhaps more than any other sign, and Mr X is a big part of that. One day you hope you'll meet him but, sad to say, Gemini man just isn't it. He is a scatty creature, not into big deep and meaningful discussions. You really need to get your teeth into things.
LEO	You will be proud of the fact that he's a big achiever - or at the very least, he's set to be. You like ambition, because you are such a climber yourself, so this side of Capricorn could really grab you. You will be amazed at how bored you can become, though. You want to fool around and play with fire, but he wants a nice, steady, sensible kind of love thing. Whoops. It's not totally without potential but it's hassles.	Your signs are opposite so it's no wonder that there's a kind of unusual chemistry drawing you together. It could even be one of those things that starts with both of you slagging each other off and then realising that you actually like each other. He wants the world to be perfect. You just want you to be perfect. Here lies the problem. It will be his inability to worship you and you alone that gets you in the end.	He will feel as if you've just run over him with a gigantic truck. You like charging in and throwing your ego around, giving orders and generally trying to boss him around in the hope that he'll yell at you and you'll have a nice, big fight. At heart, you see, you need a bit of a power tussle to feel half alive in a relationship. Pisces won't give it to you because you'll make him nervous. Try hard.	This relationship will probably make those around you a little intimidated because you are both such amazing creatures that together you can come on like an explosion. You are ambitious and so is he - there could be competition here that rubs you the wrong way and yet really pushes you on to better things. Ego clashes are inevitable but what the hell - you understand each other.	He wants to know that you will give him the kind of safe and settled routine that makes him feel comfortable in a cruel, hard world. But you are in love with drama and will probably end up bored and confused. You'll have enormous fights because he won't back down, and then wonder why you argued in the first place. Simple. You've got to have excitement and if it's not there, you'll invite it by fighting.	He will make you look twice because he is so funny and clever all at once that admirers won't be able to help themselves. Anybody who is as much the centre of attention as you are is a definite hit, so you'll be off chasing him like a speeding bullet. The problems will come from your pride, because you want secretly to be worshipped and he just doesn't have the time or energy. Interesting.
VIRGO	You two can form a unit that feels like Us Against The World. Together you can have fantastic bitch sessions about all those people who drive you crazy - you understand each other because you are both so earthed. You can compare experiences where other people have rocked the boat for you, and come up smiling. In the end you feel more secure, more positive, and stable as a result.	Perhaps one of the few things that could draw you together is an interest in the planet. Other than that, it's hard to see why you are attracted - there must be things in your personal horoscopes that are making it happen. He is a bit of a rebel, and will test this urge again you, unfortunately. He needs you to make the rules so he can run off like a total head case, and break every one of them.	There is strong chemistry here because you feel as if he is showing you a side of yourself you secretly feel is a little bit too weird or wimpy to express. He in turn knows he can get it together if he can just be a bit more like you. It could be a mutual appreciation society except for the fact that his emotions will drive you crazy, and he in turn will find you too logical.	You are pretty logical, cool and together. He is impulsive, doesn't care much for common sense, and occasionally acts like he's barking mad. You can try as hard as you like, but you will have to face the fact that he can come across as being self-interested to the point where he doesn't even care if you're a wreck because of it. His wild schemes and sudden dashes for the top will confuse you.	You have a side to you that needs to feel totally secure and stable before you can physically let loose. You can even be a little cool where physical pleasures are concerned because, to you, there are so many other things to think about. Along comes Taurus and Whammo; you are suddenly woken up to all these senses you never thought you had. You can be great together and learn a lot.	He will hit you deep down, even though you can look at him quite logically and see he's far too scatty for you to be happy. In a way you represent a part of each other that neither of you admits to. There is a connection of minds, perhaps, but not of hearts. In the end he seems too irresponsible, too untogether and too flippant.
LIBRA	He can really bring you down if you let him. He can't help it, it's just that being pessimistic makes him feel like he can expect everything life gives him without being shocked. Your attitude is different because you see life as being a balance between optimism and pessimism. He is very ambitious, but you won't relate to this unless it's something slightly creative or glamorous. Hard work.	You will both be quite happy about using your heads to start this relationship rather than your hearts. You'll love the way ideas pour out of his head as much as the way he is prepared to do something crazy every now and again. In turn, you charm him to death, and he loves the way you're so cool about everything. Your conversations will go long into the night and be unforgettable.	You might relate to poetry, beautiful songs or beautiful paintings together. He could even produce some of them for you if he's really smitten. The truth is, though, he is such an emotion junkie that you could feel like you're being dragged to Ayers Rock by the hair. You could find that people at parties find him a little weird, and if there's one thing you hate it's embarrassment.	You are the diplomat of the zodiac, always trying to make the peace in awkward situations. You hate to see tempers flare, or those embarrassing moments where words fly around the room leaving red faces. You've landed a doozy of a guy, then, because he doesn't even think about these things. There is a strong, undeniable chemical attraction but this one will take lots of energy.	You both like the beautiful things in life, from music to the bush, from art to clothes. You can sit there for hours going, "Oooh, look at that" which will drive all your friends crazy. You may not find much in common apart from that because he can be a little bit too stubborn for you. You like everything to be light and breezy, using your head more than your heart. He can't cope.	A definite hit, if you can keep him still long enough. He is a guy who is into communication. If he's typical, he won't shut up. You like to hear somebody who has a way with words, especially if they are rolling into your ear, so this will be where the whole thing starts. Neither of you are into heavy or dramatic relationships. Neither of you want to see your freedom disappear that much. The signs are good.
SCORPIO	This match will be easier than most because you get really fired up by his ferociously ambitious attitude. You're a bit of a hidden and mysterious creature yourself, so you love the idea that this quiet, normal kind of guy is really a big dreamer. The thing you respect most is that he works so hard to make it all happen. He'll fall in love with your ability to make him open up more.	You like to focus on the personal things in life, like one-on-one situations where you are more concerned with people than ideas and philosophies. Aquarius is all about the broader ideas in life, though. He'll be good at supporting Amnesty International, for example, but a bit lost when it comes to you and your life - or even your close friends. He could seem like he's not there sometimes.	Throughout his life he may have been hurt because people trod all over him. He's not necessarily wimpy, but he does react super-sensitively to things that other people may not even realise affect him. He'll feel a little as if he's come home when he meets you, and you can have some amazing experiences together, investigating the things in life that most people find too intense.	You do admire men who are full-on about things. He is certainly that, but you can't believe the way he charges in and then drops all his wild schemes. He doesn't seem to stick at things, and this could also mean you, which understandably makes you a little bit nervous. You could actually feel as if you're putting out his fire in the end, and you may well find this instinct of yours is correct.	Taurus is your opposite sign, which is why you will feel a strong attraction to this man, even if your gut feelings are that he'll be a bit too staid for you. You do enjoy going to the depths and back where love is concerned - it makes you feel alive. He is a bit more cautious than that, and this will create the problems. At the very worst you'll be calling him boring. He's a sweetie, but too straight.	Why he doesn't take things more seriously is anybody's guess, but it can be really frustrating when you want to express yourself and it doesn't seem as if anybody's home. He loves to muck around and live life on the surface, but if you lose your temper often enough you're just going to be straight and tell him he's superficial. It can get nasty but only if you feel stifled. This needs lots of patience.
SAGITTARIUS	There is a limit to how much you want to achieve your ambitions. You do like the idea of getting out there and doing things, but if it means chaining yourself to a routine, then forget it. The trouble with this kind of relationship is that you won't understand his values. He is quite happy to slog away for years to get what he wants, and never mind the consequences to his freedom. You say "Yuck".	This might not necessarily be the world's longest-lasting match, but it could really mean more to you than the guy you eventually end up with. Strange, but true. He can open your eyes to so many things you'd never considered that you could be quite knocked out by him. He knows you've got the heart of an explorer, always trying new things out. That really appeals, so it's happy.	As you enjoy experimenting with new and untried things, a guy who's as sensitive as this could become an interesting goal for you. You like the way he's open to things, and not prejudiced. And secondly, you figure it's time to try somebody different. Okay, so far so good. What shakes things up is the fact that you've got a thicker skin than he has. You're tough, he can only take so much. It's a worry.	This one will be a race to see who grabs who. This really appeals to you, because while you need to know your guy is a fighter, you also need to know that he won't go all sexist and silly when you try to assert your right for freedom. This will be a very warm and loving relationship if you can put aside the little problem of ego hassles. He is spontaneous and exciting to be with.	There is a whole world out there to discover, but you may not always want to see the practical side of it. You are more interested in going where no person has gone before. Taurus on the other hand, wants to go where everybody else has been, just so he can be warned of danger first. This makes for a match where frustration from both of you is just a jump away. You could head for the hills.	This is your opposite sign and in astrology, as in life, opposites attract. Both of you find it really hard to make a commitment because it all seems so scary, and anyway, you don't relate on that level. You'll have some pretty funny fights together that will have your friends reaching for the tape recorder. The end result, though, is both of you drifting off.

CANCER	Oh bliss, he understands you! Just when you thought no man could ever get it together along comes somebody who actually understands your moods. You switch like lightning, and so does he - but somehow you keep time together. He craves a safe place, and so do you. You can find it with each other but this relationship will be heavy nova emotionally.	He could confuse you even though you'll be impressed by the way he swanks around and impresses your mates. For a start, you can't cope with the fact that he's so secure on the surface yet so totally self-questioning underneath. You thought you were the only human being allowed to play that little game, so Leo will unsettle you. His ego can drive you mad, but he likes the way you mother him.	You can have so much fun picking over the details of how you met, when you met, and the funny things that happened along the way. This guy is a real talker, as long as you don't get too weepy on him, and you can really go for hours looking at every little thing in your relationship. He will calm you down when you feel you're slightly unsettled, and in turn you can activate his imagination.	He will find you so feminine that he'll feel as if you're the only true female creature in the zodiac. This is all very well, but watch out he doesn't project his image of perfection onto you, then complain because you don't live up to it. He loves balance but your moods swing like yo-yos. He wants everything to be beautiful but can't cope with your needs when you turn everything upside down for him. Weird stuff.	You can stare into his eyes and go deep-sea diving for days. There is nothing he loves more than getting into very deep, very intense, very squirmy relationships, and you can accompany him. It will give you the feeling that here is something to change your life, and he is really attracted to that aspect, too. You are emotional creatures, but make sure you don't feel rejected by his other passions.	You are quite a romantic and this guy seems to fit your ideas of what a knight on a white charger could look like. He is an explorer, a bit of a sports freak and a vision of masculinity. He'll be attracted to you because he wants to discover you first, but after that it could be such a struggle that you'll wish you'd chosen someone slightly more down-to-earth. It will take work.
LEO	This is a weird one, because it's difficult to see how you got attracted to each other in the first place. Perhaps it's because you're something that he isn't. Maybe you just met on a full moon, because Cancerians do act oddly when La Luna plays up. Whatever it was, your pride versus his sensitivity will create huge misunderstandings. Hard work.	This battle of mighty lion egos will have people running for cover. You will love each other instantly, fight like crazy, show off to each other in a ridiculous game of one-upmanship and generally have a great time. He could be a bit sexist as far as you are concerned but the amount of warmth and generosity more than makes up for it. Wonderful news, Leo. Just hang in there.	You like to make big plans, waving your hands around a lot and telling anybody who will listen that everything will be bigger than Ben Hur. You don't like the small details. Those boring practicalities are for other people, you figure. This is where poor old Virgo comes in. He is a nice, earthy creature and you like that helping hand to ensure your dreams take off. But your ego will drive him crazy.	You need him, although you might not like to admit it. He can be rocked by your love of all things dramatic and major, but in the end he just can't help worshipping your Doc Martens. You are a whole lot of woman, and he loves the way you look - Leo vanity gives him the kind of partner who is so visually amazing he'll forgive anything. He makes you laugh and doesn't get too heavy about things.	You secretly enjoy the ups and downs of relationships because it's all so exciting, and it gives you a chance to get on the phone and be the centre of attention for a few decades. You like him because he is so amazingly intense and passionate that you know your relationship will be like a ride on a roller coaster. The arguments will be massive though.	You like a guy who makes big plans and ignores the boring details. Here he is, so before he zooms off on some adventure, you'd better grab him. Actually, he'll grab you first, if he's typical of his sign. He wants to explore life with you and he knows that you are both gutsy enough to take a few risks. You like him because he's broad-minded - you hate petty guys. This one will be hot.
VIRGO	You sometimes feel that you are skimming along the surface of life, maybe missing out on emotional experiences that other people seem to have but never quite touch you. This guy will change all that because he can make you feel as if deep and meaningful things are actually quite safe. He is sensitive and you can find lots of pleasure going into the details of life.	He will really stretch your patience, perhaps because you feel the need to pull him up on his mistakes, but his pride just won't let him accept that he's ever been wrong. He certainly does get himself into trouble, wanting to be the centre of attention and create a drama at the same time. You are the one to help but you just won't stand for his refusal to accept logical advice. It needs work.	Together you will be either incredibly neat and tidy, or disgustingly slob-like. That's one of the funny things about Virgos getting together. You are both pretty stable people and you will actually encourage one another to be more adventurous by giving each other a secure base from which to take risks. You are clear-headed and appreciate the little things in life. It's looking good.	You could find him a little bit un-macho, strangely enough. It's almost as if he doesn't represent your true idea of a man. You'll like the way he strives for order and balance, but his dithering around will irritate you. You can see the clear and logical solution. He doesn't know whether he's Arthur or Martha. You may also be a little less visual than he would like. It will need patience.	He can be a bit too secretive and silent for some people but you will be attracted to what you see as sensible discretion. He is cool, keeps a sense of dignity, and has the kind of personality that immediately makes you curious. How did he get that way, you wonder, as you check him out for the ninetieth time. He is a passionate creature and could go off beam. You can drag him back, though. It's potentially happy.	Sometimes you wonder if he wants a full-time relationship at all. Meet the Freedom Freak. He has a way of switching off when you want to get a bit more permanent with him. You are trying to fix the relationship in your own mind but he won't act as if he's even heard you, if he's typical. He likes the great outdoors. If you do too, you could be halfway there, but this is very, very tough.
LIBRA	He will find you unwilling to accept his mood swings, and in turn may even find you unfeeling. That's not true, it's just that emotionally you are on different planets. You like to stay cool most of the time, but Cancer's natural instinct is to run to the emotional depths. He can be prone to tears and wild laughter in one afternoon. This seems kind of threatening to you, and you could turn off. It needs effort.	This combination sees you feeling happy because you can see right through him. He's not the big tough creature the world sees, and you know it. This alone can make you feel quite happy and he won't mind you keeping tabs on him. Laughter will be the big factor here. You feed him jokes and lines, and he warms up. It can be pretty magical but watch out for the big ego trip from him.	There's not much to go on here, except perhaps a natural social ease from both of you. Virgo won't embarrass you by acting like a yobbo, which is really important to you. You could find he's a bit too down-to-earth and sensible, though. He may not respond to the beauties of music and art either, which will leave you cold. You dither too much for Mr Sensible, so this one will take lots of work.	You two will be admiring each other from a distance for ages. When you finally do get together, you will be struck most of all by the way each of you looks. Visual appeal soon gives way to the heart of the matter, though, which is that you've found somebody as charming and diplomatic as yourself. You don't take anything too seriously with each other but you will dither around for ever.	He is really good at coming across as Mr Cool Cucumber, but the truth could really disappoint you. The guy is full-on intense, if he's typical of his sign, and this kind of thing scares you to death. You like your life to be nice and easy, with everything peaceful and balanced. You just can't get too worked up about things - it's not in your nature. Watch out for jealousy from him, too. It's a toughie.	He enjoys his freedom and you will do anything for the quiet life, so you won't have a problem giving it to him. There won't be jealousy involved either, if you're typical of your sun sign. You really like all that is visual - and that also means visions of golden futures. Here is someone who likes to dream big dreams, but he's got what it takes to make it happen. You love that kind of attitude.
SCORPIO	Relationships can obsess you, if you are typical of your sign. They won't just be part of your life, they will seem to swamp everything you do and think. With this all-or-nothing approach, you really need somebody complicated to work with. He's deep, he's emotional, he's got a crazy laugh, he's sensitive and he'll give you lots to work with. You understand each other.	You like to dig your heels in on certain issues, just because you feel so passionately about them. He'll hate the way he can't persuade you to change your mind, purely because he honestly believes that if he's worth anything to you, he can lecture you until you change. You in turn can be emotionally powerful to the point where he feels like he's gone soggy. He jives around too much for you.	There's a respect between you which is pretty much admired by all those who see it. You tell him he's got his head on straight, and he's so clever that you just want to flip over and pass out. He loves the way your eyes are. They reflect your soul and that's another reason he likes you - you have emotional depths that he finds fascinating, and perhaps even envies a little bit. This is strange, but good.	You give him a secret fear that you're going to gobble him up, which is something he wouldn't admit in a blue fit, but it's true. You can overwhelm him. He really needs to hear your views on things, because you have an insight that is so powerful you make him feel like he's been missing out. But in the end, you are possibly too passionate for him. He can seem a little bit like cardboard sometimes.	There could be some kind of power struggle here, or it might just be the issue of power takes over both your lives. It will be an intense relationship, and extremely good from the point of view that it will change both of you from the inside out. You won't need shrinks, you'll have each other. You understand each other so well that it can seem like you're in a club together.	This one will wander off and "forget" things when you make him nervous. He's not averse to being downright tactless as well, which can really strike at the heart of you. In truth, when he feels as if he's being smothered, he starts reacting like a total overgrown schoolboy, wandering off and being so irresponsible that you'll feel like walloping him. He is free and easy. You're not.
SAGITTARIUS	This one is a combination that will produce really huge reactions from both of you, because it touches at both your vulnerable points. Basically Cancer wants to be looked after, and also look after the woman he loves. He's really into family-style relationships. You, on the other hand, can find that too repulsive for words, but feel guilty that you are neglecting him.	This is a great combination, especially if both of you ever have thoughts of working together or getting together on a creative project. He has a huge heart, even though you find him so up himself at times that you have to laugh. In turn, you find it's easy to flatter him, which will heat up the relationship so much that it positively sizzles. It's all about passion and mutual respect.	He appreciates the facts; the truth of the matter. He wants to get to the bottom of things, but sadly, this may not mean you. Virgo is a little bit too ordered and together for your liking. You need to know there's a few surprises out there, and you really like taking a risk with people and places. You don't mind leaping into the dark with situations. He can be a bit prejudiced for you.	It's funny, because when people look at you both they could see you as the leader - but you won't see it like that. In your eyes you're both equal and that's one of the reasons this combination attracts you so much. He has an amazing perspective on life, and you like somebody who's not afraid to look at things in a different way. To him, you are Ms Freedom, and that's a real relief for Libra.	You can't understand why he is so much into the idea of conflict. He really believes that there is good and bad in the world, and he can get quite worked up about it. To you, everything was meant to be good, and your total idealism and dreamy visions of perfection could really frustrate him. He's got a dark side that makes you call your friends for urgent advice. He could squelch your fire.	Somebody should write down everything you two say when you're together because it would make a great book. You jump from subject to subject, the more mind-blowing the better. You want to make the world perfect and the both of you are striving for the ultimate in a way that makes others scratch their heads. It's okay, though. You both know what you want, and you're honest about it, too.

cancer JUNE 22 - JULY 22

THE CANCER FEMALE

You are highly sensitive and also emotional, and you can pick up on the moods and feelings of other people to the point where you might sometimes seem to be psychic. You have a lot of caring and compassionate feelings and you may have the reputation for being the person everybody else goes to for understanding and sympathy. You may only try to hide this sensitivity if it makes you feel weak, in which case you could come across as a bit of a tough cookie - in actual fact, you would be better off showing your softer side to the world. The home and family are really important to you, and even if you have negative experiences with your family the ties are really strong. It's important for you to see yourself as daughter and sister, and you may find it a little hard to see yourself as an independent person who doesn't have to be part of the family to have a place in the scheme of things. You will either love or hate your mother - Cancerians typically have a really strong reaction here, and she's either your ideal picture of what a mum should be or somebody you don't even feel like talking about. It's likely that you will see yourself in the role of mother quite strongly - either as a mum later on, with babies to look after, or just by mothering your friends and your boyfriend. You like to look after people and tuck them into bed when they're feeling bad; that's also a reason why you love children, and you can be quite an adoring and protective aunt - even a teacher, at times. You don't feel happy with anybody who is too weird or alternative, to you people are either with you or against you. You want people to be on your side, to be much the same as you are - anybody too different can be a real threat to you. You are pretty traditional in what you believe and new, different and progressive things can turn you off. You respect the past and it's likely that you have quite a collection of jewellery or clothing that has something of the old days gone past about it. In fact Cancerians love collecting things and tend to accumulate junk. Money is very big with you too - not so much for what it can buy, but having a stack of it gives you security. Security is actually what you're all about. You need safety, and something solid to protect you from the wild, weird world.

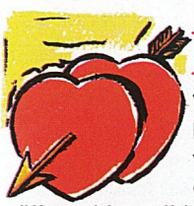
THE CANCER MALE

Now this guy will either be the mummy's boy you've always dreaded, or the kind of sweet, caring creature that you thought only existed in books. He will either want you to look after him or pride himself on the fact that you need lots and lots of love and care. To him, relationships aren't about two independent people coming together, they involve some kind of exchange where you swap playing parent/child roles. He is incredibly sensitive and will pick up how you are feeling without you having to wave a banner. This can be a relief after some of the guys you've met in the past, because it can be really tiring, and frustrating, getting yourself understood. With Cancer, there will be very few problems because he honestly does soak up what you are feeling to the point where occasionally you might think he's read your mind. He may choose a profession involving security in some way - either food, because hot family dinners make him feel safe and cosy, or even money. Money and Cancer men go together, because he needs something stashed away to make him feel protected. If you are at all flirtatious or interested in being different, or rebellious, he will probably run a mile. That kind of behaviour is a bit of a threat to him, because he needs to know that the woman he is with is nice, safe, and more than a little bit like him. He won't tolerate it if you aren't faithful - even if you're just laughing at his best friend's jokes - so be warned. He can be incredibly moody and swing from mad laughter (this guy has one of the craziest laughs around) to total sulks. Sulking is actually a Cancer speciality, and once again it ties to that whole thing of wanting to be like a kid again. He won't hear a word against his mother if he's typical of his sign - either that or he'll have cut off from her completely, and it's death if you even mention the woman's name. Cancer loves children and he would make a brilliant dad. He is also great if you feel like you need a sensitive and caring type to look after you - one thing's sure, he'll always be there for you. He is quite good at relating to his family and if you end up going out together you may well find yourself dragged in as another family member. Occasions like Sunday lunch at home and big family Christmas dinners are really important to him and you will have to let him know that you enjoy being part of that big unit. He's hard-working and ambitious, but watch his tolerance level.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

The good news is that some of the revolutionary changes you felt storming around on the home front in 1989/1990 are now easing off. The past year, in particular, was a time when you felt that your home was just a place where nothing happened except upheaval. You almost felt the ground shifting under your feet at times and for Cancer that can affect everything else in life. There may also have been a bit of a power struggle going on in the home, too. You and somebody else in your family may have been competing for control and influence in a situation and it's likely that it left you feeling quite drained. You've probably learned a lot from the past year, and in one sense you have got rid of the old in your life and are now open to a whole new way of doing things at home and with your family. In 1991 you may find a few more surprises to shake up your daily routine, and there could also be a bit of confusion or mystery about your everyday pattern, but by and large you will feel as if most of the hassles are over. October will bring lots of activity at home.



IN LOVE

Your love life may take on quite a different tone this year as you stop seeing love as a matter of pure romance and excitement and start thinking more seriously about the responsibilities you have in this department. It's time to work at your relationship, even though you may feel that this is a bit of a drag. You have some obligations here and you need to review the promises you have made to each other, because in 1991 you will really have to fulfil your end of the deal. You may at times feel as if your relationship is a burden rather than a freewheeling experience, but you will get through this period easiest if you accept the fact that sometimes you just have to work at love and realise that being in a relationship requires that you have to put something into your responsibilities. The extra work you put into the relationship will only strengthen and enhance it. One possibility for lots of you will be a relationship with somebody who is significantly older, or more serious, than you are used to. Don't worry about the differences between you, though. The change will do you good.

YOUR CAREER

If you are involved in a partnership project at work or school then in 1991 you and your working partner could find that life becomes a bit of an all-work and no-play situation. You and your partner will be looking really closely at the whole issue of who is responsible for what and it's likely you, personally, will take on a bigger workload or more responsibility than you are used to. If you are working or studying in more of a group environment then you can expect your daily routine to be quite weird. You may be confused, or there may be some mysteries about what you are doing and why you are doing it. There could be secrets around this year in your everyday working pattern, but most likely there will be fast changes, sudden events and almost electric arrivals that throw your whole 9 to 5 deal up in the air. You will really be concerned with freedom this year and every day you could feel a little bit more like bolting. The best advice is for you to admit to yourself that you need more freedom well ahead of time and do something constructive about it. Also try and be totally clear about what you are doing at work and school, and avoid any kind of deception, dishonesty, or people who aren't what they seem. Watch who you share your secrets with.

WITH FRIENDS

You will continue to be the centre of attention for the first half of the year as your friends continue the flattering comments that were around in the last half of 1990. There is no evidence that your friendships will be a particularly big deal this year, but it's clear that if you are in a best-friend situation then you could feel a little bit as if the whole deal is a drag, and more work than it is fun. The middle of the year could see you getting a bit worn out so try to cut back on the social activities for a while and try not to do so many favours for friends. A friend may ask to borrow money - beware you could end up out of pocket!

leo JULY 23 - AUGUST 23

THE LEO FEMALE

You are most clearly marked out from the crowd by your pride because even as a kid, it was obvious that you wouldn't stand for anybody treating you like a follower rather than a leader. You won't put up with anyone who puts themselves above you - you like to be Queen Bee, even if you're a shy Leo, and nothing irritates you more than somebody else running around as if they rule you. You have a warm heart and because gold is your element there is something about you that seems to glow. It's said that Leos can light up a room when they walk in, and you may already have noticed that when you're really buzzing you can draw quite a few people to your side - even if they've never met you before. Your ego is probably your downfall in some ways because you can't resist preening yourself. If people compliment you, you practically purr, and one of your biggest mistakes in life will be to put up with people who aren't very good for you just because they know how to flatter you. Be more aware of people because, at heart, you would love to love the whole world but the sad truth is that some people really are up to no good, and they're not worth your time or energy. You love getting presents, especially expensive ones, and although you won't admit it would love to know how much the present cost - the more the better. Leo females are quite dramatic, so they may be drawn to acting, films or theatre, or just enjoy making a big deal out of something for the hell of having an audience. You are probably aware that there's a part of you that just goes over the top when there are people standing around watching or listening to you, but just remember that not everybody loves a drama queen. You can turn arguments into raging battles because of this dramatic streak, which is really quite silly, because what sets you off is probably quite trivial. If turning the theatrics on is a problem, consider joining a drama group and playing it all out on the stage rather than in your personal life. You are self-expressive if you are typical of your sign, and love creating words, pictures, moods and objects. Coco Chanel and Yves Saint Laurent are famous fashion designers who have the Sun in Leo. Children appeal to you and you will eventually take enormous pride and joy in your kids. You will have to be careful not to boss children around too much, though. You're a leader, but don't be bossy.

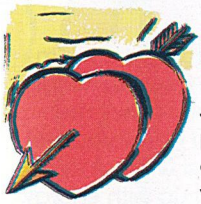
THE LEO MALE

You can spot this guy by asking his friends who spends the most time in the bathroom putting gel in his hair. The Leo male is vain, even though he'll blow his top if you present him with this fact. One of the reasons these guys are often good-looking is not only their natural glow - they are ruled by the Sun - but just the fact that they spend a lot of time making sure they look good. Chances are his clothes will be pretty spot-on, too, and you won't see him out with greasy hair or pimples. He'd rather die than be seen looking less than wonderful and the same applies to his pride in his personality. He hates looking stupid in front of other people. Now, nobody likes to seem a dummy, but for Leo it's a total tragedy. He could be so knocked over by one embarrassment that he'll turn into a hermit. If you ever meet a shy Leo rather than a big, growly, extroverted one, then you'll know the poor guy was once humiliated in public. It's a shame because a male lion who feels his ego is in good shape is a great person to be with. His generosity will amaze you, not just in terms of presents and compliments, but in the way he will give up almost anything to help somebody who needs it. He is warm and you can have some pretty passionate arguments with him over who's the boss and who's taking the orders. He is probably a bit of a star in some way, either through sports, popularity, school marks or some other ability - maybe even acting. There is something special about him, but boy, will he know it if you give him half an inch. He loves to hear you tell him how great he is because deep down he's not totally sure that he is. The truth is that his greatest gift is his ability to persuade people to make the best of themselves. He is the best giver of pep talks in the zodiac and you can be sure you'll get some of that magic inspiration from him, too. One of the best things about this guy is that he'll just naturally make you feel good, almost without trying. He can light up with energy and optimism just when you need it most, and even though he won't go out of his way to make you feel just as lit up, you'll definitely feel it. If you're ever in need of some tender, loving care he's the best person to be around. He loves mock-fighting, if he's typical, and running around doing arm-wrestling, or just pretending to be mad at each other will really appeal to him. Bring him down gently when you think he's being too arrogant, don't hurt his pride. Otherwise, have fun.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

In 1991 your home life and your relationship with your parents is where you'll feel perhaps the most revolutionary changes. You've probably felt early hints of this in the past year, but in 1991 a series of slow-moving shifts in the way you see your parents, and perhaps in the place you live, will grab your attention. You may move house, and in the process say goodbye to the old in order to make way for a new life. Another possibility is that your home will become the centre of some almost revolutionary happenings - you will coast through things better if these changes are disruptive purely by admitting that it's time the old life went. Sometimes it's hard to see where any good can come by the old life going out the door, but by the time 1991 is over you should be able to work out that getting rid of the way things used to be is actually for the best. Your relations with your parents will show the same changes - you need to step up onto a different footing with them, and this will slowly happen in 1991. There may be a problem with either you or them having too much power. You may face an unfair situation where they are lording it over you and overstepping the mark, or on the other hand, they could feel as if you are the one running the show by your behaviour. Either way you would be better off to sit down and talk honestly about what is happening, rather than playing big guilt-tripping games with each other. Don't try and rush things by pushing for the answers and solutions straight away. Be patient and things will be resolved.



IN LOVE

Jupiter, the planet of good vibes and good opportunities, is in your sign for the first time in years. This will mean a great love affair for lots of you - he'll be someone you probably met towards the end of 1990 and you can be sure that the experience will make you feel as if the sun's finally come out. It may take a little while for things to heat up but once they do - watch out! During the second half of the year you will be the centre of attention and this will certainly help your prospects. After July you will be Number One for a lot of people and you should get out and about as much as possible then and show the world what you have to offer. In this way you can be sure that you'll make plenty of guys notice you exist. Enjoy it!

YOUR CAREER

Work and school life could seem like a bit of a drag this year, just because you are taking on more responsibilities than ever before. People born in July will probably feel it most, but for all Leos there will be a sense that the old daytime working routine has never been so full of chores. You may feel as if life is a burden, but actually it's a really important time to brush up on your attitudes to work and responsibility. You won't get quick and easy rewards from this year, but if you accept what's going on and learn to fix yourself up with a highly-disciplined, hard-working routine, then you will be amazed for years to come at just how much that changed your life for the better. You've needed something like this for a while now, just to put you back into reality, so go with the flow and accept the responsibility. The good thing about all the hard work you will be doing at this time is the positive effect it will have on your finances. You may even find time to turn a hobby into a handy money-making proposition.

WITH FRIENDS

The good times you have with friends this year will probably depend on how many risks you are willing to take with your entertainments. If you are normally stuck into a routine of films/bands/clubs then this is the year you should try something a little bit different, because any new, unusual or slightly risky way of entertaining yourself could change your life for the better more than you think. This doesn't mean you should take up bungy jumping, though. Don't take stupid risks, but do try to be a little bit more adventurous than you normally are. If you want to get together with friends and make movies, write poems, or do anything creative then this is the year when it will be quite a success for you and could change your life.

THE VIRGO FEMALE

You might prefer to see yourself as just an ordinary person and that is certainly true of your modest and unassuming nature. In actual fact you have some pretty special skills, though. You are good at working hard and it isn't as much of a big deal for you as it is for other people. You are also well-organised - Virgo diaries are something to see - and you aren't the kind of person who opts out of their responsibilities. You can be trusted because you know how important it is to other people that you live up to your end of the bargain. It's rare to see a Virgo not handing in an essay on time, and although you may not be the most creative sign in the zodiac, you make up for it with practical effort. You want to see results, and you usually do, but even when you have enormous success you won't go on about it to other people. You have a great eye for detail and that's why careers that require precision and accuracy attract you. You would be good in working with jewellery, accounting, fine-tuned research, dentistry, surgery, and anything else requiring really close attention to the little, important things. You are a bit of a perfectionist, and you like to know that everything is as good as it can be. It gives you a buzz to feel that everything is clean, in order and running perfectly. This is okay to a degree but beware of transferring these high hopes onto people and wanting them, as well as yourself, to be impossibly perfect. Don't be too critical or picky, although it is easy for you to fall into this trap. The world just isn't that wonderful, and you will only set yourself up for silly disappointments if you run around believing that the guys you like, or the friends you hang around with, should be better than the best. You are more of a background person than a raving extrovert and you feel happy supporting others. You are also traditionally neat and orderly and can have a bit of a thing about cleanliness. It's all part of the Virgo need to find perfection in everything around them. Virgos are total extremists in this regard. Their bedrooms, bags and shelves are either amazingly well organised and clean, or they have a room that looks like a bombsite. Similarly, clothes are either beautifully clean and pressed, or look like they've just been taken off the racks at St Vincent de Paul. Health is a big concern with you. You're the original vitamin queen and you are really concerned about the whole fruit/vegetable/six glasses of water a day routine. This is another area where you could make your profession because keeping a healthy body is really important to you and you are careful enough about your own health regime to educate people.

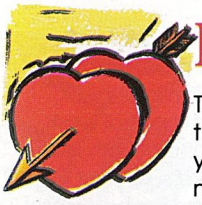
THE VIRGO MALE

Whoever made up the myth that guys were supposed to be slobs probably hasn't yet met a Virgo. These people are unusually careful about making sure they look clean and neat and they will probably not thank you if you run around looking as if you just got out of bed. There are few exceptions to this rule and they are the truly wild Virgos who look as if they should be sent to the dry cleaners. Most of them, though, are always clean, smell good, wash behind their ears, and get paranoid if their shirts aren't ironed. This guy is pretty modest so it may take you a while to get to know him. It's easy to become addicted though, because he's so down-to-earth. He might be shy but he isn't up himself, and he's not the type to embarrass you or worry you by running around creating a drama. He can sometimes be a bit of a doormat when he runs into people who take advantage of his desire to serve. He likes to feel he's needed and he can be taken for granted by some. In this situation he can complain and moan, but may not have the ability to stand up for himself. If you feel you might be the kind of female who is tempted to take advantage, then don't. You'd be better off with a fire sign. This guy is somebody you could potentially make unhappy and the situation could just drag on and on. Being a doormat is a fairly rare occurrence, though, and most Virgo males are a winner in the job or school stakes. They are so organised and together that they can't really go far wrong. They may not necessarily be geniuses, but they have a real sense of responsibility, and it's quite likely that they are good at things that need lots of detail - fine mathematical work, for example, or painstaking manual work. He is a bit of a health freak, too, so make sure that you stay away from cholesterol and sugar when he's around. Of course, he may not actually get around to lecturing you about your wicked ways, but if you ask his friends what he eats when you're not around, it's likely that he tries to keep to the straight and narrow. He has a respect for a healthy body, so if you want to attract the guy, don't worry about make-up or groovy clothes, look after your diet and exercise routine first. The only thing to watch for is that he might expect too much of you. He can be hard on himself, too. Try and get him to chill out a bit.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

Home is where the surprises will be for you this year. Anything could happen, but do understand that it will give you more freedom than you've been used to. The changes could be quick, but you will certainly feel as if life at home has changed a lot by the end of this year. It's a kind of a flushing out process, if you like, when some of the things that have been holding you back are cleared away. You will feel as if you've got room to move, finally - maybe you'll actually get more space in the house, or a bigger room - but it doesn't matter how it works itself out, you can still be sure that by the time 1991 is over you will feel as if you have more space and freedom to live in. This change also affects your relationship with your parents, which will probably loosen up and undergo a few radical changes. There may be a bit of mystery at home this year, too. If you feel a situation is all foggy and confused, or you're not seeing clearly, try and straighten it out with help from somebody you trust. Chase your freedom at home this year, and flow with any changes, but remember that at times you may need to write things down to be sure not to forget anything important, or ask a friend with common sense for some advice if something is confusing you at all, in order to get a clear picture on all that's happening in your life during 1991.



IN LOVE

This is not the year you will necessarily find the big love of your life, but you can be assured that temporary romances will occupy your time probably because there will be more responsibility here than ever before. If you've previously seen love as nothing more than a good time, then you will really change that attitude in 1991. Lots of you will have a fling with somebody, but it won't have the light-hearted quality you expected. Instead there will be a sense of you taking on responsibility and treating matters very seriously indeed. You could become quite concerned about being extra responsible if you are having sex, and this will be something of a change for you. Whatever happens, love will carry more weight than you've been used to in the past. You will learn something important from an older, wiser person and there may be a difference in age between you and your boyfriend. Your parents may not approve but you'll know in your heart that age means very little when it comes to love. But be careful here too, and don't start ignoring your head in this important matter.

YOUR CAREER

If you are studying, then this year will see revolutionary changes at school or college. Big upheavals could occur which will see you leaving behind old attitudes that may have been holding you back. Career matters are quieter, if you are working. There are no signs of big moves - although if your personal chart is very different this will change - instead, there's a sense of getting something together on the work front in preparation for later in the year when Jupiter, the planet of good luck, moves into your sign for the first time in years. September 1991 to October 1991 you will be your best phase ever for getting to the top. From September onwards, people born in August will feel that their luck has changed at last. Those born in September will find their good fortune a little later in the year.

WITH FRIENDS

Your friendships will pretty much look after themselves this year but if you are normally a party girl then you could find that the whole business of entertainment - what you do when you go out - could become a heavy deal for some reason. You could be disciplined, or maybe you are just disciplining yourself, which wouldn't be such a bad thing. All becomes groovy after September though, when you enter your most magical period for 12 years. Enjoy it, Virgo. However, remember that a stroke of luck has to be followed up by your own effort - it won't just happen!

THE LIBRA FEMALE

You are probably known to your friends as the one who makes the peace after bitchy fights. You are naturally somebody who loves harmony and peace and you can't stand it when everything tips up in the air and people fight and become enemies. Mahatma Gandhi had the Sun in Libra and so did John Lennon - both big peacemakers in our time. Anger is an emotion you may have difficulty with, because it physically could make you feel quite shaky or a little bit icky. Sometimes this will stand in your way, because you will go for peace at any price - anything to avoid an explosion - and as a result you could actually let really important points go unanswered. Sometimes you really have to stand up for what is right, even if means creating a big fuss, so it's important to remember that losing your temper, or even just being quietly angry, won't bring the world to an end. Don't let anybody ever call you wishy-washy or unreliable just because you hate to see conflict or get involved. Your natural love of balance makes it easy for you to see both sides of an issue and that's why it can be hard to make decisions sometimes. You always see the pros and cons very clearly, and while this is a good thing if you've got any ambitions to be a lawyer, it can be a real pain when everybody is waiting for you to make up your mind on which film or a band you'd like to see. Really big decisions, like whether to split up a relationship or not, can leave you wobbling around for months. It all seems too hard in a way, because you can see so many points on both sides. You are often one of the more popular signs because you are really interested in pleasing people and that means gentle words, good impressions and a neat, attractive way of dressing and doing your hair. You like everything to be easy and pleasant, so you put a lot of energy into pleasing others and putting the pleasure of other people first. You are great at saying the right thing at the right time and always want everything to be "nice" even when it isn't. You can avoid emotions because you've learned from experience they can be dangerous and send everything up in the air. Emotions are a bit messy to you and you probably would like to see everybody cooling it in the same way that you can. This ability to chill out can make you take two steps back from any situation and this is quite a handy skill to have. However, there will be times when you will really have to get into other people's shoes and listen to their problems.

THE LIBRA MALE

He is ideal in some ways because he puts so much time and energy into his relationship with you. The only trouble is for all the work he puts in, there doesn't seem to be an overload of feeling or passion there. Because the Libra guy is ruled by air, he relies on his head rather than his heart and he is always weighing situations rather than just jumping in and letting go. For that reason you could sometimes wish he was a bit more passionate or just seemed to have a few more deep feelings involved. Nevertheless, you can have a good time with him because he will take a lot of pleasure in what makes you happy. He is one of those guys who won't be jealous if you are successful, just because he likes to glory in what you've achieved. He really finds it essential to have a partner, because he doesn't like functioning by himself. For that reason you may be the latest in a long list of girls, but don't worry; he isn't fickle, it's just that as soon as he breaks up with someone, he really can't stand being alone for too long before he has to find somebody else. He has a real love of beauty and music, especially paintings, art or songs that sound balanced and harmonious. He is less likely to enjoy heavy metal, he would rather hear something that has a lot of voices and instruments harmonising together quite beautifully. He needs to know you're looking good, too, because visuals are very important. Your hair, clothes and make-up have to be attractive, without being too outrageous. Once again, the rule for Libra is balance in everything. He could probably be fun to watch if you ever have debates at school or arguments with friends, because he just falls to pieces when there's a big decision to be made. If you're not careful you could end up with the biggest fence-sitter in the world, just because going to extremes in emotion or opinion scares him silly. He likes to sit in the middle of the boat, not rock it, and that's why some of your friends could accuse him of being wimpy or a bit wishy-washy. Don't worry, you just need to gently show him that taking sides doesn't mean that all hell is going to break loose.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

Last year the scene at home or with your parents proved to be a little bit of a drag for you. You may have felt that you were taking on extra responsibility or that certain things were resting totally on your shoulders at a time when you felt somebody else should have been taking charge. It's a slow cycle of change for you and you will continue to feel this sense of responsibility in 1991, but it's important to realise that however heavy it may feel, the answer lies in accepting that hard work and some discipline are actually going to make you feel better in the long run, not worse. It might be hard to believe but if you now promise yourself that you are going to slog away on the home front and put the effort in, then the rewards will basically stay with you for the rest of your life. What you learn from your own self-discipline and effort this year will really stand by you in years to come, so it's a great opportunity to give yourself experience that will help you later on. This especially applies to your home life, but for lots of you will directly apply to your mum and dad.

IN LOVE

Librans are impulsive when it comes to affairs of the heart and just love being in love. Unfortunately, the romance department looks a bit quieter this year, with no major partnerships arising, unless your personal horoscope is very different to your Libra sun sign. There will be more energy from you in other areas, especially career, and later on, friends. One tip - you could make a boyfriend out of a friend, or a friend out of an old boyfriend. His generosity, and your need to give back, will make things really easy. If you ever wanted to make friends with your ex, then do it after July. Your attitude this year will be that true love can wait while you look after your platonic friendships first.

YOUR CAREER

The first half of this year follows through from the end of 1990 when your studies and career results were really starting to take off and at last mirror all the effort you have previously been putting in. "Go For It" has to be the message for 1991, because if you act before July, you will really find some fantastic results. Your social status will lift, people will look up to you and admire you more than ever before, and there will be a golden opportunity to improve your job situation in the first half of 1991 - assuming this hasn't happened already. If you ever wanted to think positively in your career and reach for your dreams, then the first half of this year is the time you really have to get in there and sell your talents, because people really are waiting for you to shine out there. One thing you should be careful of is your natural inability to make a quick decision. What are you waiting for? Get in there!

WITH FRIENDS

You're lucky as far as friends go, as people will generally do anything that they can for their Libran mates. It could also have something to do with the fact that you're affectionate and sympathetic and intensely interested in the people around you. After July you will be entering your best period, as far as friendships are concerned, for many years. You will find that you make some great new friends, as well as improving and expanding your old friendships. People who you may have taken for granted will become really important to you, and you will see sides of them that impress you like never before. You can expect that any group venture between you and your friends will be a huge success now. There's never been a better time to join a group, incidentally, so if you want to make your life shine, then astrologically the stars are right for getting involved in a team, organisation, club or committee. It's the best time ever for friendships, so put a bit of effort in after July and watch your life go a long way. For some, a long-held goal could become a reality thanks to the help of new and old friends. Ask for help. Your friends in some cases may also take on a family role. September could see something that started off as just a friendship become a deep and meaningful relationship. Don't push it though, relax and let nature take its course.

THE SCORPIO FEMALE

One thing that marks you out from the rest of the females in the zodiac is your dramatic life. Scorpios traditionally find that events in their life bring them to a dramatic halt - something major leaves their life for good, and something new and quite different comes in its place. Your life will be a series of such changes if you are typical of your sun sign, because Scorpio rules the clearing out of the old and the emergence of the new. At some point in your life you will probably undergo a complete transformation, either in your lifestyle, looks or attitudes. In much the same way that you can change quite radically in your life, you also have the ability to change other people. You have a lot of power which you may already be aware of - Scorpios using this power positively may choose careers like psychology, teaching, counselling and other occupations where they have the opportunity to take somebody on and radically transform them for the better. Because you have this ability to change other people you have quite a powerful presence. For this reason, sometimes a few of the signs will be a little bit spooked by you. It has to be said there is something very intense about the Scorpio eyes which generally hits people in a big way...This intensity comes in part from the fact that you've probably already experienced a very deep and emotional event in your childhood which left you feeling quite alone, with nobody but yourself to rely on. This period generally sees Scorpios retreating inside themselves, which gives you a kind of intensity about your emotions later on. You can be a little bit self-protective even now, hiding yourself from the world so that nobody will ever get to know your secrets. Some guys might complain that you are hard to understand, just because you will only let them see so far inside you and no further. Not many people can earn your trust, it has to be said. But once someone earns your trust they're your friend for life. Despite this tendency to clam up about yourself you are intensely curious about other people and what makes them tick. This urge to know secrets can lead you into investigative careers later on - police work, for example, or exploring the mysteries of life and death in a science lab. You also have an interest in the darker side of life.

colours - YELLOW AND DARK RED

You are fascinated by what goes on underneath the surface.

THE SCORPIO MALE

If you ever wanted a guy to come along and change you for the better, this is the one. He has an uncanny ability to take everything in your life that is old and worn-out (and that include parts of your wardrobe) and calmly help you to get rid of it. If you have attitudes that aren't helping you any more he is the one who, even without your realising it, can bring about a slow change in you. After a relationship like this, you truly will feel you are a different person. He may have a bit of a hang-up about power if he is typical of his sun sign Perhaps he experienced a dominating parent as being totally bossy and maybe even unfair, restricting his life. He quite likely has problems with teachers and bosses, too, and the whole issue of power and control and who has it is likely to get him quite worked up. You should be a little careful with Scorpio because he can also try to get on a power trip with you. He can manipulate people when he has to, and try to overpower their lives. He can be quite stubborn and wilful about it, not giving in to anybody else - this is the negative side of him, though. Chances are if he is a real power freak and starts wanting everybody to do what he wants, it's purely because somebody else did it to him first. Try and make him look at himself honestly if this problem arises. He is quite intuitive and can make instant emotional connections with people, sometimes to the point of being psychic. Chances are if you fell in love with this guy, he actually fell for you first. He knows instantly if somebody is going to be right for him or not and in the same way he can spot enemies within seconds. He is one of those guys who has gut feelings about people and he is usually uncannily accurate. He takes his relationship with you seriously and can be really intense. He's passionate not only physically, but in every part of his life. What other people have as hobbies and interests, he can have as absolute obsessions. If he's into sport or plays in a band, it's likely to be something he never stops thinking about. He's emotional and can totally immerse himself in a relationship, seeing you as part of himself. Watch out for possessiveness and jealousy though, and if you should betray him in any way be aware that Scorpio, more than any other sign, cannot forgive and certainly will not forget. He can have a big jealous streak and can spend weeks planning how to get revenge if he's been wronged. He is very clever and uses his intelligence to get around every problem he encounters - no challenge is too big for him. It all sounds very full-on, but this guy is pretty special.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

Any happenings on the home front this year will reflect the enormous changes that have been taking place inside you. The slow, but powerful process of change that began last year is continuing. Some of you may have already noticed that people are saying how different you are now. For other Scorpios, the time is yet to come. Sometimes this internal upheaval is reflected in the place where you live. You might move, or notice that the building is shifting in its foundations or that the walls are starting to show tiny cracks. It all sounds very strange, but it's true that you are an intense sign and sometimes this intensity means the outside world begins to show up what is happening to you inside. It's an exciting year of transformation and by 1993 Scorpios won't recognise the way they used to be. You won't just be older, you'll find you've become quite a different kind of person.

IN LOVE

Love won't necessarily be a priority for you this year. Your attention is more likely to turn to the issues of values and money. However, this in itself can influence your relationship. You'll start looking at the way the money flows between you, and you may even be comparing your possessions and your money situation with his. It's also likely that you will be thinking about your values in life. If you believe in something - like the environment, for example - and he doesn't, then there will be clashes. If you haven't really thought about your values in life - political, religious, spiritual or otherwise - you'll find that your love life should encourage this.

YOUR CAREER

After July you have the good vibes planet, Jupiter, in your career department, so it's a fabulous time to make moves on the job scene. You will find great opportunities handed to you on a plate that allow you to do more than you have ever done before in your working life. School results will show improvements, too - it's likely that your end of year reports will reveal that people are thinking more highly of you, and some of you could rise to respected positions at school. Careers that will appeal now are likely to involve broad-minded and optimistic people. Certainly after July you are going to be feeling really positive about your job prospects and this energy in itself can lead to the promotions and other goodies that traditionally accompany this transit. If you ever wanted to make a daring career move, choose your time towards the end of this year. One word of warning though - Jupiter can sometimes make people go over the top, so if you want to indulge yourself, resist the urge! This means money, ambition and power.

WITH FRIENDS

This year you have a heavy planet sitting in your conversation department, so you can bet that your talks with old friends are going to become even more serious and perhaps even a bit of a downer at times. This could be because one of you is having problems, but remember that although your times with friends may not be as light as you remember, there is still a lot to be gained from this deep and meaningful year! You can find out a lot about yourself, and them, by getting serious for a change. You might have to work at communicating with your closest friends this year but it will be worth it. One thing's for sure - because you are changing in such a huge way now (you have been for the past year also) it's likely that your style of friends will be changing with you. Sometimes you may have to let old friends go, but don't be too full of regrets because new ones will be there soon. If people go out of your life you should remember that it's all for a purpose and you have to clear the way ahead for the new and exciting times ahead of you.

THE SAGITTARIUS FEMALE

If you've ever read Winnie The Pooh, you'll remember a bouncy, cheerful tiger called Tigger. If you're a Sagittarian, you've probably got a lot of Tigger inside you! You are typically friendly and know exactly how to have a good time. You don't like taking life too seriously and while some people live in the past or the present, you often live in the future - always dreaming wonderful dreams about what is to come. You are a natural optimist and you can put failures behind you more quickly than any other sign. When things go wrong you simply leap ahead and set your eyes on new possibilities. Perhaps because you are naturally such a positive thinker, friends and family often identify you as lucky. You're not actually lucky, it's just that your rosy view of the future often brings good events by itself. Perhaps the drawback to all this for you is that you promise more than you can deliver. You get wonderful ideas in your head and bounce around trying to make them work, but you can often fall short. You rarely arrive on time or get anything finished on time, either. Essays are a good example of this, and if you are typical of your sun sign, your friends are used to you turning up late to things. You can be irresponsible, it has to be said, but people can't stay angry for long, because apart from anything else, your sense of humour gets you out of things. Woody Allen, Bette Midler and Charles Schulz (the Peanuts cartoonist) were all born with the Sun in Sagittarius. Your number one aim in life is to expand your horizons. You want to travel, see everything and meet everybody. You also see yourself as something of a teacher, bringing what you know to other people. You can share your knowledge at the drop of a hat and talk quite a bit about it - sometimes to the point where people secretly wish you would clam up. Did you know your sign rules the legs? That's why you might enjoy sports like running and cycling, skiing and netball - but also why you could have a hang-up about the way your legs look. You are really at your best when you are going out of your way to make people laugh, and also when you are urging others to expand themselves (mind you, you are also famous for forcing people to stuff down food, which is another way of expansion!). If you can control the other side of yourself - the reckless, irresponsible side which makes you wander everywhere and achieve nothing - then you will find yourself fulfilled in every way possible.

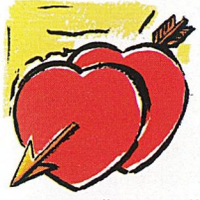
THE SAGITTARIUS MALE

There is usually an open, friendly look about him. He may be one of the boys, if he is typical of his sign, running around slapping everybody on the shoulder and enjoying a good laugh. He's pretty attractive, if you don't mind the fact that he can be a total mess when it comes to punctuality, being organised and generally living up to what he says he'll do. He's one of those guys who you may have to be careful with. He means well when he spins his fantastic dreams for the future, but you can't always trust that he'll actually do what he says. At best he can be a genuinely happy and friendly person, with reasonable hopes for what is to come. At worst you can lose your temper with him and find that five minutes later he's completely forgotten that he said he'd change for the better. He's one of those guys who say "She'll be right" and then turn around afterwards and do exactly the same frustrating thing again. Sometimes you can feel as if you're playing at being his mum, which isn't the best way for a passionate relationship to operate. In truth he isn't that emotional. He's warm, but he won't get deeply involved in a relationship. For him, there is so much more to the world than you, his family and his home. He wants to travel more than any other sign, and he is really interested in people and places that are different in some way. One thing he isn't is racist - if he's true to his sign he will be totally accepting of other people, no matter where they come from. He can lecture you a bit, and he probably has strong views on the world. It's also likely that you'll be fronting up to watch him play sport, because so many Sagittarian guys burn off energy this way. He is really positive to be around and it's likely that he feels right at home in Australia, just because this country is also strongly Sagittarian. He probably likes Paul Hogan, thinks Crocodile Dundee was a great film, loves the idea of the Outback and can't wait to tour around the place not thinking about tomorrow. This guy is the eternal hitchhiker. He's so optimistic he doesn't worry about people not picking him up, and he has a wanderlust that will often see him heading for wide open spaces. He is a big dreamer; try to make him come back down to earth. Keep the optimism, but spare the fantasies.

1991 PREDICTIONS

AT HOME

It's possible that money and possessions could become a bit of a burden at home this year. The issue of what you own and what you'd like to own could drive you up the wall, but it will help you if you remember you need to discipline yourself a bit. You could be feeling annoyed that money seems to be such a drag or that your finances seem to be so tight. It's unfortunate that Sagittarians love spending money so much because at this phase of your life it's essential to understand that you must be tough on yourself where your material possessions and your cash are concerned. Cut up that credit card and open up a savings account! The lessons you learn from this year, if you do the right thing and apply self-discipline, will last you for a long time to come.



IN LOVE

The first half of the year will see you expanding anything you share with your boyfriend. If you both share money, responsibilities or anything else important to you, then this shared area of your life will improve and there could be a good opportunity handed to you on a plate that lets you expand it. Your ruling planet, Jupiter, is in Leo all year and it's likely you could be more dramatic about your love life, more of a show-off and maybe a bit more into creating dramas with your boyfriend. Enjoy the feeling of glamour that's around but don't go over the top. Be cool when you have to make the first move, and also don't over-react to what he's saying and doing. You'll only be reading the wrong things into his motives. Use that marvellous intuition of yours and you're bound to make the right decisions in your love life.

YOUR CAREER

This year you are changing more radically than at any other time in your life, so some of you will see your job choices and study choices also changing dramatically. You could find yourself longing for a job you never thought you'd be interested in, or you could just give up on the idea of work altogether, as the drive for freedom is very strong in you now. Whatever study course or career path you follow in 1991 it's really important that it reflects the new side of you that is coming out now. Don't take something just because people tell you it's right for you - you have changed inside so dramatically that only you know yourself well enough now to make the right choice. Spread your wings and go for it! New work for you is likely to be off-beat, involving new inventions and technology and probably a surprise to everybody. Some unexpected travel around the middle of the year could start you thinking about changing your occupation or your future ambitions in your career.

WITH FRIENDS

You have lots of friends because you are so fun loving, generous and friendly. You're so honest and open about everything that people can't help falling for your charm. The only problem is that sometimes your honesty translates into rudeness because you say exactly what you think. This is not a bad thing, just something to be aware of when dealing with people who are a little more sensitive than normal. If you are thinking about finding new friends, then in the second half of the year look to other countries and maybe even places of higher education for your chances. Many of you will feel like taking off after July, and it's likely your new experiences will bring people to you from other countries and cultures that you've never thought about before. If you stay where you are the chances are still high that people will come into your life who are of different cultures and nationalities to you. It's a great chance to broaden your horizons, so don't miss these opportunities. Aiso remember that if you've ever wanted a foreign penfriend, the time to write off is after July. You stand a chance of building up a very special friendship that could make a difference to you in the future. Your friendships this year will really take you out of your safe little world and show you a new side of life out there. Grab it!

WHAT'S YOUR NUMBER?

Just about everyone has a lucky number, whether it's your birthdate, the number of people in your family, or the number of times you've dreamt of going on a date with Tom Cruise. Numerology is an ancient system that takes the number game a little further. By working out your number, you can learn things about your character, personality and even the type of boys you fall for.

What's Your Number? Numerologists use many different methods of working out a person's number, they can go by birthdate, name or even zodiac sign. The simplest way of working out your number is by using your birthdate. You simply break the date into three parts (day, month and year), add them together till you get a single-digit number and Voila! you've got your birth number.

For example, if you were born on 12 October, 1972 this is how you'd determine your number: First add the day number to the month number (12 + 10 = 22), then total up the year of birth (1+9+7+2 = 19). Add the two numbers (22 + 19) together and you get 41. Since you're after a number between one and nine, simply add 4+1 and you'll have the birth number: 5. Simple, huh?

WHAT YOUR NUMBER REVEALS

1 Number ones are born leaders full of ambition, originality, independence and firmness of purpose. Ones are very creative people, and often have a talent for writing. They tend to be attracted to mental rather than physical pursuits and use their intellect in positions of teaching, training and management. You'd make a good explorer, pioneer or promoter and you tend to learn not from books, but from observation and travel. Be careful that your strong streak of independence doesn't reveal itself as arrogance or selfishness. Number ones fall in love deeply and tend to have one great all-consuming love in their lives. Attributes: Mental vision, self-control, creativity, individuality, courage, ambition, positiveness, will power, aggressiveness, leadership, daring, independence, originality, purpose, ability to act. Lucky colours: crimson, flame and white. Best partners: 1s, 4s or 8s.

2 If you're a typical number two you are kind, gentle and prefer a life of peace and tranquillity - blazing rows upset you more than most. Two is the number of partnership and sharing and you have a very strong need to share your thoughts and feelings with someone you can trust. When you fall in love, you fall hard and your relationship becomes the most important thing in your life, sometimes blocking out everything and everyone else. Your biggest fault is that you can become too sensitive and timid, reacting to extremes of happiness and depression. Try not to take everything to heart as you'll end up getting hurt far too often. Number twos are naturally perceptive which often enables them to see the truth that some may try to hide. Attributes: Adaptability, gentleness, receptivity, passiveness, harmony, charm, tact, diplomacy, sensitivity, shyness, sympathy, generosity, balance. Lucky colours: Salmon, grey, navy blue. Best partners: 2s, 5s, 7s.

Their vivid imaginations work well with their artistic flair, they are brimming with fresh ideas and are never afraid to be different. Threes are very social beings - they like nothing better than being with other people, talking and having a good time. Honest and outspoken, they can sometimes be hypercritical. They are always busy mentally and physically, and make good mathematicians, engineers or mechanics. Fours have a love of detail and routine. You have a strong capacity for fighting back and won't put up with people trying to impose their ideas on you. You're a lucky person, too, and can spot a golden opportunity a mile off. You tend to be a bit reserved and can sometimes be accused of being secretive, but that's just your way of protecting yourself. Attributes: Trust, honesty, stability, endurance, practicality, devotion, organisation, efficiency, common sense, perseverance, love of detailed work, strong will, protectiveness, inner strength. They are always full of bright ideas and sometimes you'll wonder if their brain ever stops. Quick-witted and uninhibited, they often take on stressful positions that would give other people nervous breakdowns. However, fives should be sure to take time to relax or they'll end up suffering from burn-out in a big way. You are always willing to lend a hand and help someone in trouble, but need to balance your generosity with common sense. Attributes: Ambition, individuality, curiosity, freedom, experience, audacity, boldness, versatility, opportunism, personal magnetism. Lucky colours: scarlet, orange and wine. 7

Sevens are very intuitive, they are fascinated by life's mysteries and tend to do a lot of deep and meaningful thinking. They are very sensitive and perceptive but sometimes are a little too frank and outspoken for their own good. Sometimes they think they are misunderstood by other people and, as a result, tend to withdraw within themselves. Other people can learn from your amazing self-reliance. Your biggest fault is a tendency to romanticise and dream rather than face up to life's realities. Attributes: Introspection, poise, studiousness, technical ability, philosophic-occult-religious interests, silence, wisdom, emphasis on fundamentals, individuality, thoroughness, perfectionism, diplomacy. Lucky colours: sky blue, silver and sea green. Best partners: 7s, 5s and 2s.

They love a challenge and prefer things they can see or measure in a real way, they're not into daydreaming. On the negative side, they can be impatient - wanting to start at the top of their chosen profession and getting frustrated when things don't go as quickly as they'd like. They need to learn to be softer, and may need their partners to teach them about the importance of give and take. Attributes: authority, power, wealth, personal magnetism, executive ability, organisational ability, leadership, self-reliance, the will and ability to succeed, generosity, philanthropy, strength of character, perseverance.
